Why Boys Leave The Farm

The question is often asked why the boys wish to leave the farm and go to the city to enter the soulkilling, nerve racking commercial life.

A reason for the desire to leave the farm is largely that the boys and girls only see one side of farm life—that is the great amount of drudgery connected with it and from their viewpoint, only the brighter side of city life can be seen by them. Also from the time a boy is large enough to work, he is induced into the disagreeable small details of farm life. His only reward is an occasional trip to the distant town or the circus. He does not meet in daily converse with his companions and when at home too often he hears nothing more than grumbling at conditions or plans to make more work.

His social life is dwarfed and he feels when couling in contact with those who are daily in touch with actual life, that he is not as good as others. Few really entertaining books and magazines are to be found. Possibly some ten and fifteen cent magazines of all disciplines of patent medicine ads, and no claims to literary merit can be found in a wall pocket. A few exciting dime novels and possibly a catalog or two. Newspapers probably will be found there, but these are only read for the neighborhood gossip, not the editorials or the special articles.

He is cut off in a majority of cases with only a nominal interest in the live stock and produce as, Sonny's pig, Diddy's pork. He helps to create values and naturally feels that he is earning more than his bed and board. He is not given any chance to develop the various sides of his nature until the last upon his own resources. Even if given an animal or hives to care for,
when it or they are sold, he does not get a share of the money but it is turned into more land or more machinery and all he can see is more work for which there is no reward.

Educationally he falls behind his city cousin. The schools are good in the country, but when work begins in order to save a few dollars
on the farm, his father takes him
from school and places him to work and thus curtails his education and consequently his earning power at the same time.

He notes when in town that the young men who work in the factories or offices are much better and tastily dressed than he. This also makes him discontented with his
lot. He reasons falsely we admit, that if these people can work and make a living and dress well nearly all the time, their lot must be much better than his.

He also laments that while the city boy is dressed better, he consequently has to pay more for his dress and thus cuts down his saving power. He also thinks of the chances to go to the theater, entertainments and other social affairs.
(Unfortunately for both country and city boy, the city boy sees very few plays and really has less to spend upon those things than the country
boy. In fact the working boy in city realizes early in life, that he has his nose to the grind stone,
and must keep there for many years without a chance to get beyond his little sphere. He envies
the country boy and would gladly exchange pieces if he could.

To sum up, the country boy has,
if the work of education is carried forward, the one ideal position in the work-a-day world today. He can be a student, a reader, a paper magazine and advantage his cousin. He has the opportunity
He has the opportunity.

so the sure and all-the-year-round driving horse. He has Nature, in her various moods and changes.
He has brooks, lakes trees and the music of the wild birds to minister to him, and to lift him to higher planes of thought. Rural mail delivery has put him in daily contact with all the world. And last he has the great unlimited world panorama before him and he can be monarch of all he surveys. All he has to do to obtain all of these is to assert his better character and put away the yoke. "What will the town folks say?" and be a strong,
clear- and clean-minded country
boy—the only independent person
on earth.

Birds as Men's Saviors.

Dr. Charles A. Bebeck, originator of the Bird Day movement in the schools, which, by legislative enactment, has been taken up by the schools of twenty-one states, drew a gruesome picture of life on the earth without bird life in a recent address:

"It should be realized," he said, "that without birds to feed in the fields, the insects, as well as the life soon would cease and the life for man would become impossible upon the earth. Birds are nature's check to the amazing power of insects to increase. If insect life were allowed free course it would soon overpower plant life and the life of man would be impossible. This is an astounding conclusion, but it is the conclusion of science. If the birds were gone, very soon the leaves would disappear from the trees and the limbs would be festooned with the rot of caterpillars or with masses of their nests. These would move from tree to tree, increasing by the million as they advanced. In the course of a few seasons there would be no trees. In the fields other species of insects would destroy the grass and the grain and all vegetable life, and the ground would be as if it were a sea of devouring gophers had passed over it. Man, by his stupid efforts, could preserve only small patches in this desert for a time. Then these would be overwhelmed and man, himself, would disappear." Nor, last.

What's in McClures for April

The leading article in the April Mc-Clure's is the story of "How Mrs. Stowe Wrote 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.'" told by her son, Charles Edward Stowe, and her grandson, Leamon Beecher Stowe. Many of Mrs. Stowe's letters are telling for life at that time, and the future that greeted her great epic on slavery at the time of its publication, are published here for the first time. The latest installment of "Great Kings of Detective Fiction" deals with a new case in the series of the writer
"The New York Factory Fire," by Mary A.
Hopkins, tells of the outrages committed existing in the factory that was burned
last November. Twenty-five girls lost their lives and many more were injured in amount of the inadequate protection against fire. Miss Hopkins shows how we can make safe other factories where even greater danger now exists.

The leading fiction feature in the April number is "The Last Garden," a story of heredity, by Kathleen Norris.
Among the other stories are "King Grub," by George Preston, "A Dog and a Foe," an adventure story of that land, by Herbert Gilson, the fifth installment of Mrs. Humphrey Ward's novel,
"Richard Hevelin," and the last two acts of Arnold Bennett's comedy, "The Honeycomb."

SELLING OFF OUR WORN-OUT WARSHIPS

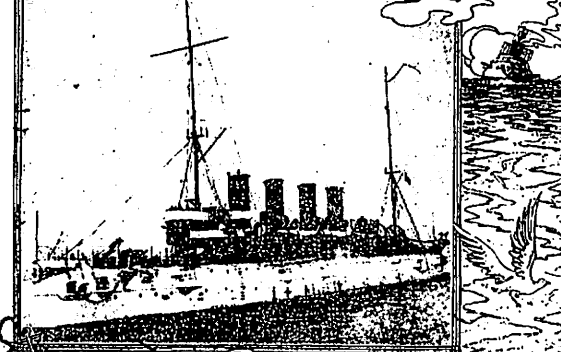

CRUISER ALBATROSS—SENT TO THE SCRAP HEAP

To keep a fighting navy up to date means a continual withdrawal of old ships and a continual building of new warships on the one hand and a continual sale of worn-out ships on the other hand. It is not that a nation is limited to just so many vessels in its fleet or that it has just so much room, in or out of water, in which to store them. It is that, since the old vessels must be turned out of service when the newer ones are completed by the shipbuilders and ready to take their places in the naval family. On the contrary, any world power would be only too glad to keep all its old ships, even though constantly adding to the collection, if these older warships did not so completely outgrow their usefulness.

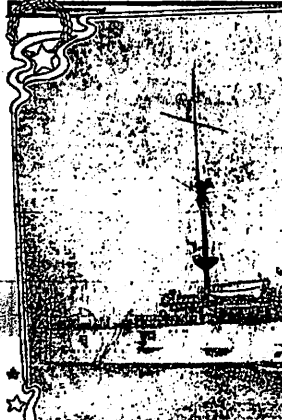

As a matter of fact, few people appreciate how quickly such an enormous fleet becomes obsolete. One of these massive floating fortresses constructed in the staunchest materials of iron and steel, and requiring two, three or four years to build, looks as though it might stand the wear and tear of wind and wave for centuries. Yet, as a matter of fact, it is wholly out of date in the brief space of a decade or two and worn out, in the literal sense of the word, but so out of date that it is not very profitable just as in a woman's gown made in the fashion of several years ago.

AN OLD MONITOR WAITING FOR THE AUCTIONEER

BATTLESHIP TEXAS TO BE USED AS A TARGET

It is appalling to people who think that a house or a wagon or carriage or a piano wears out more quickly than it ought, to realize how much more rapidly, proportionately, an all-metal warship built to withstand an enemy's shot and shell, will outlive its usefulness, without ever having fired a hostile shot or been made the target of an enemy's gun. And the worst of it—at least from the standpoint of the people who think that altogether too much money is being spent for death-dealing paraphernalia—is that the active life of the average warship appears to be steadily growing shorter. There was, not so very long ago, when the active life of a warship was supposed to be at least twenty years, but in recent days the life of a warship ranges in this active service, contrary to the usual course of a machine, from one to two years.

It is hardly necessary to point out in short order the part of a warship and especially its hull, that is the part of the vessel that has been built to last. The hull of a warship has been built to last for many years, and it is not surprising that the hull of a warship should last for many years. The hull of a warship is built to last for many years, and it is not surprising that the hull of a warship should last for many years. the graveyard. This exception in the Texas, and perhaps the officials were all the more ready to get rid of her because she was "honorably" discharged. It is not that she did not behave very well during the Spanish-American war, and since then she has been allotted with such a steady run of ill luck that many of the blue-jackets give up all idea of a return to sea in her. The reason she was made a "station ship" at a navy yard and now within the past few years the navy department has decided that she is too old and she will be used as a target. In this function she may be of more use to the navy, though indirectly, than she ever was during her active career. It is most essential for the planning of the battleships of the future that our navy officers should know in advance just how long high explosives, when fired from present day guns of the heaviest caliber, will do when they penetrate the resistance of the armor on a battleship. The navy department would like to know just how long it will take to pierce the armor of a battleship, and it is not surprising that the navy department should be interested in the matter. The navy department is interested in the matter, and it is not surprising that the navy department should be interested in the matter.

Every merchant knows that it is not good policy to hold on to "dead stock" simply because he can not get rid of it. The Progress of Music. A German baker in West Philadelphia has a young boy who is besting in youth the study of the violin. He takes weekly lessons and the parents are sanguine of his becoming a great musician.

A friend strolled into the backshop the other day and inquired of the genial German what progress the boy was making. "He pretty good goes along," came the baker's reassuring answer, with an elevation of the chin and a swelling chest. "He plays 'Home, Sweet Home' with such sweetness that makes you wish for the Federalist. And, by golly, you ought to hear him play that 'Nearer, My God, to You'."

A Dramatic Critic. "And what is your father's business, my little man?" asked the publisher of the morning paper. "He is a dramatist," replied the boy, "and he writes his morning call on the infant class."

The Why. "How long are you going to stay in Monte Carlo?" "Six days." "Why exactly six days?" "Because I've only brought six cigarettes with me."

Father of Insurrecto General Gays Peace Will Be Established in Mexico Inside Thirty Days—American Allies.

San Antonio, Tex., March 23.—Francisco I. Madro, father of the insurrecto leader, upon his arrival here today declared that peace in Mexico's "warred within thirty days and peace only within six days. Himself, his son, Alfonso and his son, Gustavo, he thought, would be the revolutionary representatives.

Dr. Pazo, Tex., March 23.—General Pazo has been formally abandoned to the Mexican Insurrecto, according to a decree issued by Francisco I. Madro and made public here today. The decree requires the entire republic of Mexico into seven groups of five each, each group to be headed by a war leader and the Insurrecto in each group to constitute a corps. Army units and the province are to be divided into a whole and children are to be separated from their parents.

Madro's decree requires that the Insurrecto units of the province of Mexico be organized into five groups, each group to be headed by a war leader and the Insurrecto in each group to constitute a corps. New York, March 23.—One hundred and fifty-nine teeth of their girls from the east side—were crushed to death on the pavement, smothered by smoke or suffocated in a grip this afternoon in a fire which broke out in the city.

Doctors in all parts of the country have been kept busy with the epidemic of grip which has visited so many cities very distressing and leave the system in a run down condition, particularly the kidneys which seem to suffer most, as every victim complains of back and urinary troubles, which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead, in more serious sickness, such as dreaded Bright's Disease. Local druggists report a large sale on Dr. Kilmear's Swamp Foot which many people say soon heal and strengthen the kidneys after an attack of grip. Swamp Foot is a great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, and, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed by those who try it. Dr. Kilmear & Co., Birmingham, N.Y., offer to send a sample bottle of Swamp Foot, free by mail, to every address who requests it. A trial will convince any one who may be in need of it. Women's Secrets
There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of faith or love, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. The few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations in part by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if it were not corroborated by hundreds of letters. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half a million women, it is a record of over 40 years, it is a record of the most successful treatment of women's diseases.

Colds and Chills Bring Kidney Ills

February, March and April are the backache months, because they are months of colds, chills, grip and pneumonia, with their congesting, weakening influence on the kidneys. Colds, chills, or grip strain the kidneys and start backache, urinary disorders and uric acid troubles. You feel lame, weak and tired and have headache, dizzy feelings, achy muscles and joints; too frequent, painful urinary passages, indigestion, etc. Chills hurt the kidneys. Likewise well kidneys often prevent taking cold, by helping to pass off the waste matters of cold congestion. Doan's Kidney Pills are very useful in the raw winter and spring months. They stop backache and urinary disorders, keep the kidneys well and prevent colds from settling on the kidneys. Strong testimony proves it. What better evidence could you ask?

CONVINCING PROOF FROM GRATEFUL USERS

IN HOSPITAL FOR NINE MONTHS.
Awful Tale of Suffering From Kidney Trouble.
Alfred J. O'Brien, No. 212 St. Sterling, Colo., says: "I was in the Halmstrom Marine Hospital for nine months. I was afflicted with kidney trouble for several years. I had a persistent ache in my back and was completely worn out. The urine was in terrible state, and some days I would pass half a gallon of blood. I left the hospital because they wanted to operate on me. I had no other recourse. I was advised to use Doan's Kidney Pills, but by the time I had used one box the pain in the back left me. I kept right on, and a perfect cure was the result. You may put anyone in communication with me and I will give them proof that this statement is correct."

THE SHADOW OF DEATH.
A Washington Woman's Remarkable Recovery.
Mrs. Enoch Shearer, 740 St. Central, Wash., with one kidney gone, the other badly diseased, and five doctors in consultation, was thought to be in a hopeless state. "My limbs were so swollen," said Mrs. Shearer, "that I could hardly get about. I rapidly grew worse until the doctor said one kidney was entirely gone and the other badly diseased. The end seemed near, and my friends gave me up to die. On my brother's advice I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and after the fourth day I was able to be propped up in bed. Through their advice I rapidly improved until at the present time I am active and well, although 45 years old. I can do fully as much work as any woman in Central, and enjoy good health."

NEED A DOG?

Wires Will Give You Exquisite Dog secured in Proper Way.
 Dogs, especially setters, pointers and other hunting animals, are as fierce and surly ones, need to be kept chained most of the time, the best method of preventing them from straying away, generally at night, and others from annoying or endangering premises. To keep dogs of this class constantly preventing them from getting much-needed exercise, so erasing and ruining their health and also serves to make a cruel, and much more surly and dangerous as frequently to necessitate having him killed. There is a practical and easily constructed method of exercising the dog and still restraining the dog of his liberty.
 A stout post is securely planted alongside of the doghouse, having about 18 inches of it above ground. Another post is then securely planted about 100 feet distant and a stout graph wire stretched taut between the two posts and securely fastened. The chain is attached to the wire with a sliding hook and the other end of the chain is attached to the dog's collar. To prevent fouling of the chain at the far post attach a support, which will enable the chain to slip over and into place readily.
 The location of the wire run can be so arranged as to permit the dog to guard both the front, side or back of the dwelling, as well as the gate, though much over 100 feet will make it difficult to make and keep the wire from sagging under the strain of a food-stuffed dog.

FOUND IN LIBRARY DOORS.
 Queer Things Left There by Almont-Minded Readers.
 Strange fish come to the nets of the receiving clerks at public libraries when they examine the books returned by borrowers.
 Perhaps the most common catch is a single long hair, precisely laid between two leaves. Statisticians might be interested to note that hair of a brunette character is more common than blond or near blond. Gray is seldom thus paraded.
 Keyrings and spectacles are great uncommon finds, which might indicate that the reader, having waded so far, had no mind for any further reading.
 Scraps of paper, occasionally an unsealed letter, and proofs of their graphs are common captures; but never are banknotes, and, strange to say, never an unrecipited bill or cubic valentine.
 On the other hand more than once unpaid dinner checks have turned up, which would denote such sluttiness on the part of blustacklins that they cannot eat without prior before them. Side combs are said to make good markers, and paper matches have a particular excellence for this purpose.
 Coats, hats, waistcoats, shoes, suitcases and false teeth (not necessarily taken from recaptured wakers) have ended their days in this catchall. As yet there is no record of an abandoned infant having taken this channel.

WHAT A RACE SINGS ABOUT.

Each Nationality Has its Own Range of Favorite Ballads.
 "It may or may not be the case that a race's temperament can be judged from its folk songs," said a traveler, "but it is interesting to note the different forces of subject matter in the songs of various peoples."
 "The Irishman, for instance, seems to sing for the most part about his lady love. Hardly any of his songs are not addressed to his 'Somebody Nearest Home.'"
 "The Scot, on the other hand, sings about his country and its history, as a rule 'Some Wha Hae,' 'Ye Hanks and Hanks o' Hanks Home,' 'Loch Lomond' and so on might be taken as examples."
 "The Englishman, it is interesting to note, sings about himself all the time. His songs are about his own glory, his ships, his men, his power. He refers occasionally to old England, but only as a place he made famous by his own prowess. Unlike the Irish and the Scotch, he sings little of his woman and his country's beauties."

Churches Build Roads.
 No part of the Perkiomen valley having thus far received a share of the state's good roads appropriation, an energetic campaign for improved highways has been opened in this vicinity, and the two strongest and oldest churches of the section are lending hearty cooperation, says the Philadelphia Record.
 The members of the New Oshawa Congregational Church, who went the road from this borough to the church improved, have decided not to wait for state aid. They have effected an agreement with the supervisors of Upper Haverhill township and will contribute $20 toward a road for rebuilding the road, the township providing the remainder of the money.
 The members of St. Paul's Lutheran church, which is also situated about a mile outside of town, on the opposite side of the borough, are engaged in a somewhat similar campaign.

The KITCHEN CABINET

The first day of spring is due to arrive in the calendar case of the day and state the beginning of the year. The first spring is not on the table at all. It comes when it reads.

—Henry Van Dyke

Early Spring Vegetables.

Vegetables are the best of food and tonic, and at this season of the year sprouts and greens are particularly desirable.

Spinach has been called the broom of the blood. It contains iron, which is needed to keep the blood in good condition.

Lettuces, the cheap and always available green vegetable, is a crisp and dainty salad green, which may be raised two weeks earlier than most commonly grown if a bed is made and a frame about six feet long and three feet wide pressed down into the soil early in the spring. The soil is kept around the sides and now the lettuce. Cover the top with thin cheese cloth, held in place by tacks on one side and the other by strings or twine. The cloth may be fastened and removed to pick the lettuce. The sun and air has free access to the plants. If there is a frosty night, the frame may be protected by a row of straw. Such a bed will keep early for the trouble of planting and care.

Lettuces will grow in sprouts washed and drained lettuce with chopped peanuts and serve with pepper dressing. Three tablespoons of olive oil, a tablespoon of vinegar, a half teaspoon of salt and a few dashes of cayenne pepper.

Lettuces served with orange juice and sugar makes a very nice salad for those who cannot eat anything containing an acid.

Another delicious salad for the spring time is lettuce and a few carefully broken sections of cheese fried and sprinkled with nuts and served with mayonnaise dressing.

Celery is another vegetable which is especially adapted to the spring season with other vegetables and fruits as a salad. Served as a simple relish it is perhaps the best enjoyed.

Water celery with a vinegar dressing is a most desirable salad to use in the spring, an excess is a blood purifier as well as an aphrodisiac.

In the kitchen of most people there is a multitude of things that are warmed over or served the second time.

To the economical housekeeper the left-over is a great problem and in these days of high prices it is especially so. It should be noted that nothing is wasted. Meats being not much eaten, the most expensive meats are not any more expensive than the cheaper cuts.

At a formal breakfast, precautions should be taken to insure the freshness of the eggs. A conscientious hostess would be much mortified if she served stale eggs.

When eggs for breakfast are left over, the small amount of eggs left after removing the yolks. These yolks may be used in many ways. They may be used in a custard or in a sauce. HOW TO WRITE AD "COPY"

Hints on Means of Securing Paying Results—Value of Human Interest Illustrations.

By Fred Squier.

Theory will help you write advertisement but theory without practical application is worthless. To many people advertising is as much a riddle as how the pyramids were built. The secret of advertising is common sense; it is salesmanship on paper.

A person may go to an advertising school and learn all about type and layout and design, but this will not make him write business-getting advertisements. The graduate of an advertising school is very much like a graduate of a medical school; he is not qualified until he has had practical experience.

For instance, you are pretty sure that a man in the market for an automobile will read all of the ads he comes to. He is interested in getting information, but the other hand, he is advertising an article of every day use. You will make your advertisement in few words and give it more prominent place. When writing an advertisement, you are writing an advertisement for a product. You are writing an advertisement for a product. You are writing an advertisement for a product.

Objection to Outdoor Ads

No Opportunity for Convincing Arguments—Public Feeling.

Also an Important Factor.

Many factors are contributing to the outdoor advertising less popular all over the country. There is first the intense public feeling against advertising the business, which leads many people to object to any outdoor advertising. Then there is the objection to the outdoor advertising in the form of billboards, which are considered unsightly and are often a source of annoyance to the public.

Buyers attach more importance to good newspaper advertising than to any other form. Therefore, the advertiser who uses the best newspaper advertising will get the best results.

$1000
In it for you

Calumet has been backed for years by an offer of $1,000 for any substance injurious to health found in the baking prepared with it.

Does not this and the fact that it complies with all pure food laws, both State and National, prove that Calumet is absolutely pure?

With the purity question settled—then Calumet is undoubtedly the best Baking Powder. It contains more leavening power; it is more uniform—every can is the same. It assures better results—and is moderate in price.

Willing to Tell It

The check which the comely young German handed in at the window of a Walnut street savings fund bank the other day was made payable to Gretchen Schmidt, and she had endorsed it "Gretchen Schmidt." The man at the receiving teller's window called her back just as she was turning away to rectify the mistake.

"You don't deposit this way, this way," he explained. "See, you have forgotten the 'I'."

The young woman looked at her check and blushed a rose red.

"Ach, so I hat," she murmured, and wrote hurriedly:

"I."

DISFIGURED WITH ECZEMA

Our little boy Gilbert was troubled with eczema when but a few weeks old. His little face was covered with severe sores to the back of his neck. The poor little fellow suffered very much. The sores began as pimples, his little face was disfigured very much. We hardly knew what he looked like. His face was scratched over his forehead and the little bags of cloth over his head to prevent him from scratching. He was very restless at night, his little face itched.

Splendid Crops
in Saskatchewan (Western Canada)

600 Bushels from 30 acres

Return from a local newspaper: "I have been growing crops in Saskatchewan for several years. I have never seen such splendid crops as I have seen in Saskatchewan. The crops are splendid and the soil is rich. I have seen many crops in other parts of the world, but nothing like what I have seen in Saskatchewan. The crops are splendid and the soil is rich. I have seen many crops in other parts of the world, but nothing like what I have seen in Saskatchewan. The crops are splendid and the soil is rich."

It is not our contention that OUR prices are the lowest, nor do we say that we can sell first class goods for less money than lower grade goods can be sold; BUT WE DO CONTEND AND MAINTAIN that our goods—all NEW and NOT shelf-worn—are sold to you at a LOWER price, QUALITY and MATERIAL considered, than others sell the same Grade of goods.

THIS IS A STRONG AND SWEEPING ASSERTION We are Ready to "SHOW YOU!" WE Only ask a fair and impartial examination of our goods to prove our assertion, therefore we in all courtesy ask you, before buying goods elsewhere, to carefully examine into the merits of our large and high grade stock of

ALMONT NEWS NOTES.

Cleaned from Here, There and Everywhere.
By the Arena Gate-Keeper.

J. W. Hurley who has been spending several days at Hunter's Hot Springs, Montana, returned home the first of the week, much improved in health. He brought with him a fine beaver coat and cap which anyone would be proud to own; and nearly all are casting anxious glances toward it and wishing it theirs.

J. R. Sherwood has been awarded the contract to carry the mail from the depot to the post office.

The county commissioners after considerable discussion, decided not to vote to bond the county to purchase seed grain for the farmers. Some censure the commissioners and others laud them. It is our belief that the farmers themselves, will be glad that the commissioners decided as they did.

Carl Sherwood was on the sick list one day this week.

It is understood that in a few days the mail routes between here and DeVault, and Lark will be discontinued. The mail will be carried from Brisbane, on the Milwaukee.

O. C. Ellingson was a Sims visitor Sunday last.

Miss Annie Timmerman spent last Sunday with A. Timmerman and family.

The Almont Arena and the Dakota Farmer $1.50 for the two.

The board of directors of the Almont Creamery Association are in session today and the contract for the sale of buttermilk will be awarded.

G. H. Anderson and the editor spent Monday at Lark. While there the former disposed of a fine quarter section of land to one of Lark's substantial farmers who thinks there is nothing like N. D. dirt.

Several landseekers were in this vicinity the first of the week but it is not known whether purchases were made or not. It is likely that some of the land changed hands as few come here to look and go away without making a purchase.

D. C. Filkin of Minneapolis has been spending a few days in this place looking after his large land interests in the vicinity of Almont.

Miss Ruth Sherwood left for Westfield, this morning where she will take up her duties as teacher for the spring term.

T. J. Miller purchased a well having outfit of Ole Ramsland and will combine his two lines of work blacksmithing and well boring.

We have completed arrangements whereby you can secure the Dakota Farmer and the Almont Arena for one year each for the price of $3.00. If you desire to receive the Arena for one year only, the price is $1.50. Subscribers to the Arena are entitled to a free copy of the Review $1.50.

per year and the Arena one year each, $3.50.

Arthur Nelson was in this place over Sunday. He left for Beach to take up his work again Monday.

J. H. Lunneman of Laporte City, Iowa, a large land owner in this vicinity and who has a gas traction breaking outfit to break up a large part of it this year, arrived in this place the first of the week with a carload of goods to move to his farm. Mr. Lunneman has been traveling considerably and has just come here from Alabama, where he and his wife spent the winter. He is also secretary and treasurer of the National Land Co., of Laporte City, Iowa and St. Paul. Later in the season, Mrs. Lunneman will join her husband in this place and spend the greater part of the season here.

It is reported that Harry Griswold will soon return to Almont, from Florida, where he has been spending the winter. All will be glad to see him once more in N. D.'s garden of Eden, the Almont valley.

Friday afternoon, at the residence of Rev. Mr. Iscolony of Sims, Miss Johanna Hoovested and Mr. Jacob Amdahl were united in marriage. Only the immediate friends of the two were present. Immediately after the ceremony they went to the farm home of Mr. Amdahl and began housekeeping.

Fritz Holritz is enjoying an attack of Isgrippe. He has been confined to his bed for several days but is now much better.

Everybody

Likes to see a nice garden. Besides being a thing of beauty, it is a source of profit. And it is a place from which the industrious housewife secures the material to make so many savory and palatable dishes for her hungry household. Invest a $1.50 for your summer's pleasure, and receive your dividends when the high cost of fresh vegetables usually cause you to spend sleepless nights planning ways and means to meet this added expense. Order this authority on gardening from ARENA PUBLISHING CO., North Dakota.

We need not dwell at length upon the many features embodied into The Woman's Home Companion to make it pre-eminent in the house.
