SICKFORD IN COURT.

Former North Dakota Treasurer Arraigned at Bismarck.

Bismarck.—Former State Treasurer
J. L. Sickford, who was arrested at the last session of the legislature, charged with embezzling $40,000 of state funds, was arraigned in district court, there being three informations filed, two charging embezzlement and one false entries.
Sickford's attorneys, Niles and Kolel, filed an affidavit of prejudice against Judge Winchester and also saw to it that they would ask for a change of venue. Just where the case will be held is a matter of conjecture, but it is thought by some that it will be sent to Dickinson or Devils Lake.
George Hanks, who was arrested at the site in the Cowan impeachment trial, will be chief counsel for the defendant when the trial is held, and Judge Engstrom, of Fargo, probably will act as state's attorney. Smith, of Burlington county for the state.

LIGHTNING STRIKES CAR.

Minot.—Members of the Pathfinders crew for the Twin City to Helena car had a narrow escape from death when lightning struck the big Hillclay car, severely burning driver George Lindner, treasurer, H., and standing Edward DeWaltre, representative of the Heavy Automobile company, Minneapolis, and C. E. De-beck, western Helon operator of R.
Paul. C. K. Harrington, pathfinder, and Howard Kahn, assistant pathfinder, were unhurt.

The accident occurred during an electric storm, two miles from Turbridge, N. D., about noon. A faithful church, and feet from the car, finder car, was totally destroyed by the bolt and the fire which followed and a telegraph pole was shattered within 10 feet of the machine.

Court Names Juvenile Officer.

Minot.—With the appointment by Judge C. A. Hollock of Miss Lillian Grara Topping, superintendent of the Flourish Crittenton home here, as juvenile officer for the third district of North Dakota, an active campaign for the care of boys and girls under the age of 16 was inaugurated. The appointment is the second of the kind to be made in the state. Judge Cowan, of Devils Lake, having recently appointed Miss Stevens in his district.

Fargo to Have Filtration Plant.

Fargo.—After a stormy session of the city council the contract for the new quarter of a million dollar filtration plant to be erected south of the city was let to James Kennedy of this city. The total amount of money in the contract let last night is $175,000.
The new plant will have a capacity of 4,000,000 gallons a day, and when completed will cost nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

MINOT OFFICERS QUIT.

President Lessor and One Commissioner Resign at Request of Socialist.

Minot.—President Arthur Lessor and five city commissioners, and the volunteers were accepted by Commissioners McGahan, Boyer and Shaw.
The resignation of President Lessor was made in accordance with the recommendation of the Socialist party, which recently passed resolutions stating that since the administration of Lessor had been disreput-ed at the polls and the anti-lessor men were in control of the commission the president could accomplish no good by remaining at the head of the commission.
L. D. McGahan, who made the principal fight on Lessor at the recent election, was made acting president, immediately after Lessor's hand in his resignation. Commissioner Emerson, who during the last two years supported the Lessor administration, also resigned, and the two walked out of the commission chamber with the expression, "Hop to it."
President Lessor's administration was made famous by the strict enforcement of a anti-litter and gambling laws and the suppression of the social evil.
The Socialist charge that a majority of the voters are not in sympathy with a municipal bid and that it was therefore up to Lessor to resign.

An election will be called soon, at which a president and seven commissioners will be named.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—To enable John Hays Hammond to carry out his commission as special ambassador of the United States at the occasion of the St. George, Judge Lincoln Thomas, of the district court, ordered the postponement until November of further proceedings in the case of John D. Sully against Mrs. Hammond.

The proposed treaty of arbitration by the United States and Great Britain in which the hope of the English-speaking peoples for a permanent peace between the two nations and which probably will be a useful peace pact with other nations, has reached the stage where it is to be presented to the British government for approval.

Governor Blaine of Colorado, in Washington to protest to the president and the war department against the abolition of the department of the Colorado, with headquarters in Denver. Even should the needs of the department be maintained at Denver under the new scheme of organization it would mean an outlay of $1,000,000 more, it was explained.

The monetary commission has expanded between June 1, 1909, and March 31, 1911, $20,150, according to figures submitted to congress by Secretary of the Treasury Mr. Vreagh in response to a house resolution. Former Senator Tamm, of Missouri, Representative Hays of Colorado, on the commission have drawn in salaries $122,000.

Seventy-seven mail bags filled with mail to the public to be for the new bond for Washington. Every one of the 2,000 mail bags, state bonds and other mail of which the treasury has record will receive one of the official circulars and bidding slips. The man who wants to tend the mail will be sure to the government at a 2 per cent interest rate less all the particulars by dropping around to see his banker.

General. People of modest means are able to buy a Spanish canal bond. The bond is a five percent security and is sold without a cent. It is given out officially that they will return before the end of the month.

The house was again counted on it will be debating the question of the war. Foreign diplomats at Mexico City have taken steps to safeguard records.

President Taft sent the report of the tariff commission papermaking it the same. The tariff commission passed the second report of the government's bill for the tariff.

President Taft formally nominated to the senate Henry H. Sherman, of New York, to be secretary of war, and C. B. Milford, of Illinois, to be assistant secretary of the United States of New York.

COMMITTEE ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS
LOADED WITH RESOLUTIONS
REGARDING ISLANDS.

NO ACTION AT PRESENT

Senator La Follette Talks at Liphon on Larimer Reinvestigation—House
Members Attacked Judicial Recall in Arizona.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—Members of the house are loading the committee on foreign relations with resolutions providing for the neutrality and ultimate independence of the Philippine islands.

While no action by the committee was expected at this session, the resolutions were made in the regular session to sever the islands from the United States.

Senator La Follette, armed with the general evidence brought out by the committee, held the privilege of the floor today to present to the senate his further reasons why that body should reject his resolution of inquiry into the rights of Hon. William Larimer to recall in Arizona.

Yesterday in a speech that lasted for several hours, the Wisconsin senator recounted the testimony taken by the former investigation into the Larimer matter by the senate committee on privileges and elections.

Before the senate committee was generally believed that Senator Dillingham's production of inquiry into the matter of the recall of La Follette would be adopted.

The joint resolution providing for the independence of the Philippine islands and New Mexico received its day of first consideration by the house and will be brought up for consideration tomorrow.

With the resolution pending, a motion for adjournment for three days is in order. The vote will be taken on the resolution for the Philippine islands and New Mexico.

MEMORIAL DAY AT GETTYSBURG BATTLEFIELD

THERE is perhaps no other spot in the country where the observance of Memorial day is characterized by the significance of Gettysburg. No visitor can traverse, at any season of the year, the scene of the greatest struggle in the most momentous civil war of all history and not gain a new conception of the heroic forces which were enacted the scene of the greatest war drama but at Memorial day the lessons and the significance of this immense battlefield seems to take on a yet deeper meaning.

And yet to see it clothed in the fresh green of a twelfth century spring one would never suspect, save for the reminders of the hundreds of memorials in marble and granite bronze, that this placid landscape was a most hallowed scene and the thousands of patriotic pilgrims who wend their way thither every Decoration day will be justified in the journey were there no historic attractions whatever to draw them, for one might travel for days in this country around without finding a more picturesque and more richly varied rolling country than that found in the red sandstone hills which spread out at the feet of the plateau as they pass from the summit of Little Round Top, the commanding position of this whole great battlefield.

But for all its natural beauty it is the sentiment of its historic background that serves as the magnet which draws a great throng thither from all sections of the country on Memorial day. They come by train—although Gettysburg is not the most accessible of historic spots; they come by carriage and wagon from a wide radius; they come by automobile, for so it is explained, Gettysburg has become of late years a most popular objective with motor tourists who find in the great park or reservation which now perpetuates the battlefield a network of the finest roads in America—highways which it is a sheer delight to motor over even with no thought (if one could dismiss the subject of the historic objects and incidents to be viewed by the way.)

The Memorial day pilgrim who journeys to the average Civil war battlefield or national cemetery for the annual strewing of flowers are one-day visitors who arrive after dawn and depart before sunset. But this is not wholly the case at Gettysburg, although many heavy laden excursion trains do arrive during the Memorial day. In addition to this throng, however, there is one almost as numerous made up of persons who spend from two days to a week at Gettysburg and who have come at the Memorial day season because there is an added touch of realism in the scenes at that time when veterans in blue are straggling over the roads where countless thousands of their fellow countrymen died fighting during the memorable days of battle. These visitors overflow the hotels of which Gettysburg is a great center for so small a town, and they are accommodated in the private homes of the people. The situation would seem to be a happy one, but the conditions of the age are such that it is not so.

Many of the visitors ride over the battlefield in motor cars, and where the cars are crowded, the view is obscured. The fact is that the Memorial day season is a time when the battlefield is a scene of confusion and disorder. The roads are crowded with automobiles, and the streets are filled with people. The result is that the Memorial day season is a time when the battlefield is a scene of confusion and disorder.

burg battlefield in a single day. Of course on such a schedule it is impossible to do justice to the grandeur of the complex movements of the opposing forces and there will be seen sections of secondary importance which he will have to omit from his itinerary, but on the whole he will have obtained a mental picture of the various important incidents marked by monuments and cannon. To do the battlefield as thoroughly in a brief period, which could require at least three or four days and a pedestrian might spend weeks on the battlefield without ever traversing the same road twice except in going to the field and returning to his hotel.

As has been stated above, it is the battlefield and not the Memorial day exercises which attract Gettysburg at the end of May each year. Home abroad, the general impression and the most of many graves to be dedicated as might be supposed by the person not conversant with the comparatively small number of national graves on Gettysburg battlefield. Yet there are other occasions when the exercises at Gettysburg from the eyes of the entire country. This is the case when the president of the United States delivers the address of the day at Gettysburg, as President Taft did a couple of years ago, as President Roosevelt did before him, and an annual all of our presidents have done in their day along that memorable reservation when President Lincoln dedicated the Gettysburg battlefield cemetery with an address which has gone down in history as the most eloquent, the most impressive and the most enduring of the many tributes pronounced by the martyr president.

The audience which faces a president or other public man at Gettysburg invariably impresses the distinguished orator. It is an assemblage obviously made up largely of the farming class and it is apt to be less demonstrative than the applauding crowds that are encountered in factory towns, but it is a body of men and women who pay such close attention to the address of which Gettysburg embodied the position of every body of the sober, solid, intelligent sentiment of our national community as to inspire the best efforts of the speaker. It is in the character of these Gettysburg audiences as well as in the inscription of the historic surroundings that we may find the incentive to the significant utterances affecting the general policy of the nation which have from time to time been given especially by our chief magistrates in Memorial day addresses at Gettysburg.

Gettysburg ranks of the most elaborately and accurately marked battlefield in the world having more monuments and memorials than all other battlefields combined. The position of every body of troops in the Union army and of most of those comprising the Confederate forces, have been clearly outlined by distinctive landmarks and the occurrence of the wonderful battle may be traced by all who desire to enter the sanctuaries of the graves and monuments. The cost of getting to the battlefield was inaugurated by an

DeVaul Doings

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Malone entertained Mr. and Mrs. Pete Grimm and Family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grimm, George Weekes and Fred Suppnick, on Sunday last.

We have quite a joke on Louis Olson our "little" mail carrier. While eating his dinner last Saturday, at the Malone home, a fair damsel sat opposite him and Louis was so bashful he couldn't make a square meal out of it so he is use to doing and he soon took a hike with a nervous tread and a blushing face.

Miss Millie Morgan closed a nine months term of school at the Grimm school house last Friday. She was very successful with her work and the children all felt bad to see her leave. She gave them a full day's play and served light refreshments.

Miss Effie A. Close also finished a term of school on Friday. She surprised her pupils by taking them to Albert Suppnick's home and treated them to ice cream, cake, candy and peanuts. The patrons were well pleased with her and hope to get her back again next year.

Quite a few farms are being sold among them many Valley Forge farms. Oscar Goeschel, Henry Kovar, Green Duncan, Dan, Jay and Joe Slavick all sold their fine farms.

We understand Green Duncan and John Slavick will leave North Dakota and go east to purchase farms.

Sam Stitesworth, Earl Hoyer and C. L. Claffin were visitors here a few days ago.

P. A. Lawson who has been superintendent of the Big Bend Sunday school has tendered his resignation. Mr. Lawson has been succeeded by Henry Stolberg.

Did you hear the latest about "Sook" Slavick? He made a trip back and forth to New Salem with a bag of potatoes thinking it was a girl. When it came to disposing of his burden he saw his mistake and joyfully returned to his home with his potatoes.

Albert Suppnick made a trip to Almont expecting to meet his wife who is returning from Billings Montana.

Fred Grimm made a trip to New Salem a few days ago and purchased a presmirelator for his little "tootsy". Fred was as tickled over it as a kid is with his first pair of red top boots with brass toes.

Albert Anderson returned from Mandan after a few days business and visit with his sister Miss Minnie Anderson.

Ben Wing and family visited Mr. Owen Dennis of near Flasher. Mrs. Dennis has been sick, but is some better.

Steve Weekes is busy branding his cattle.

Mr. Otto A. Lusk cut the P. M. hair of DeVaul and he says he feels honored. Mr. Lusk is quite handy with the barber tools.

Geo. Ueberstetig is busy this week breaking an outlaw bronco for J. C. Weeks.

When Geo. can't subdue them there is no use any one else undertaking it.

Myrtle Ueberstetig returned from Flasher a few days ago accompanied by Harvey Lawson.

We will sell you land cheaper than you can rent. If you are ambitious and willing to work the land we will sell you a good quarter on crop payments. You get one half of the crop and the other half you apply on the purchase price of the land. It's just like renting land excepting that when you have raised so much grain you get a Warranty Deed to the land and it is yours, while if you rent you get nothing but a receipt and a chance to move to another rented place. If we didn't have faith in our land we couldn't and wouldn't sell it in this way. Write to us for further particulars.

YEARS OF INTENSE SUFFERING

How a Bad Case of Kidney Trouble Was Finally Cured

Mrs. John Light, Crystal, Iowa, says: "For years I was in intense suffering from kidney trouble. My kidneys were badly bloated, and I was unable to walk. I tried many remedies but became discouraged as nothing helped. Then I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and soon noticed improvement. I continued until I could not walk at night and the kidney secretions became normal. I do not believe I would be alive today were it not for Doan's Kidney Pills."

Politician and Preacher.

A politician in a western state, long suspected of crookedness and noted for his shifty ways, was finally indicted and tried. The jury was out a long time, but eventually acquitted. After the verdict was in and the politician was leaving the courtroom a minister had been in and was responsible for the indictment and trial approached the politician and said: "Well, my friend, you have escaped; but you had a close shave. I trust this will be a warning to you to lead a better life and deal more fairly with your fellow men."

Her Qualifications.

Pat and his little brow were warmly familiar to the people of the town of Gary. The mare was lean, bled and lame, but by dint of much coaxing Pat kept her to the harness. One day while leading her to water he had to pass a corner where a crowd of would-be sports had congregated. Thinking to have some amusement at Pat's expense, one called out: "Hallo, there, Pat, I'm looking for the real goods. How much is that mare of yours able to draw?" "Deacons," said Pat, "can't say exactly, but she seems to be able to draw the attendance of very footy town."

Advertising Talks

By Wm. C. Prather

NEWARK BUSINESS MAN TELLS NEW JERSEY METHOD OF EMPLOY NEWSPAPER SPACE.

At the Roseville (N. J.) Methodist Church Men's club, Theodore S. Peltinger, a prominent business man of Newark, declared that the church is awakening to a new era of success through advertising. He said to part: "You are eager to reach the people. You are anxious that they should know what the church teaches, and you have a proposition for them that concerns not only their lives on earth, but their existence through all eternity. This being true, why should you stop at any legitimate means of reaching them? The woman and child who can be reached?"

"You know that modern advertising, properly written and handled, brings success to men engaged in every other business and profession. You know, or ought to, that advertising has been a wonderful factor in the success of the airplane and the automobile. Without advertising none of these things would have attained anything like the popularity they now enjoy, and advertising has proven itself of great educational value in material things, so it is bound to prove itself in educating the people to accept things for their spiritual betterment."

"The church could profitably place its position alongside the theatrical posters on the bulletin. It could use postcards and other literature and send out letters to very great advantage, and it could employ newspaper space to its decided good."

"I do not understand one Art, that is, that I am an impartial advocate, being neither directly connected with the church nor with any newspaper that might profit by the advertisement. I am speaking simply from a knowledge of what advertising has done, gained from a lifetime of experience and to the belief that the church has the greatest advertising proposition on earth, which, if rightly handled, is bound to lead to the ultimate good of humanity."

ALPHABET FOR SALESMEN

Attempt just as much, or more, than you can bear to do. Be careful not to overestimate the fine points of your life. Count well the cost of a night with the boys. Make personal remarks about your competitor. Remember to have each month's bill paid before the 15th of the month. Find the weak spot in your man, then attack it. Get down to business the moment you meet your man. Hold your word as sacred as your oath. Indifference is not independence. Beware of conclusions only when the conclusion is in sight. Keep close to the trade. Let nothing shake your faith in yourself. Make friends, but be intimates in the trade. Never practice deception—it will be found. Observe rigidly every rule of your house. Place your confidence cautiously. Question not the wisdom of house's orders. Repeat strong points of your selling talk occasionally. Study your prospect before beginning your argument. Talk earnestly and always to the point. Utilize every peculiarity of your customer to appeal to him. Venture suggestions cautiously. Watch your customer's face while you talk to him. Speak to all a friend's greeting. You must be over on the watch for new buyers. All and industry will surely be rewarded.

Modern Guidance

Investor—Do you think that you know what will happen in a world of change?
Contractor—No, I think it will either be pulled or pushed.

BEST RESULTS FROM STEADY ADVERTISING

By Wm. C. Prather

"I read recently a paragraph headed 'A TEST OF MEMORY.' It said that if a man were asked the words he put out at a meeting, he would answer the question, but if, a second later, he were asked again what time it was, he would have to guess long at what he had said."

The writer said that nine out of ten men would do this very thing. The application of the story should be helpful in advertising. It is difficult to make an impression with irregular advertisements. The people must be CONSTANTLY REMINDERS.

There are exceptions to this rule, of course, but the exceptions apply only to special events—like a circus coming to town or a fight of bird man. The advertising impression can be made only by STEADY ADVERTISING.

The name of the firm—its business—the address, you would think, by constant repetition—would be remembered, but business men are not taking any chances of omitting, in any advertisement, any one of the three. This is an instance on record of a furniture house advertising without the use of either name or address and it was successful, but it is the only one I know of.

Trade-marked articles do not need the name or address of the manufacturer, but there is no set-up in printing the name so that it will be a constant reminder.

We do not acquire our knowledge of the people we buy from EXCEPT THROUGH ADVERTISING. Every man must have it before us constantly or we will forget them.

A live merchant must keep his name before the people all the time if he wants to hold his old customers and get new ones. He need not spend a fortune to do it. A two-inch advertisement every day has made many a business famous.

ADVERTISING CONSTANTLY—even with small appropriations—better than spasmodic, seasonal advertising.

PUBLICITY AS CURE OF EVIL

Power No Wrang-Doer Can Withstand, No Matter How Rich He May Be or How Strong His Pull.

"Publicity as a Cure of Municipal and National Evil" was the subject of a strongly interesting address given by Thomas E. Buckley before the graduates of the course in advertising of the Twenty-third Street Y. M. C. A. at their sixth annual dinner.

The speaker said that in the earlier days of our country, when the cities were small, candidates for office were personally known to the most of the people. At present, however, the positions were a subject upon which almost anyone was qualified to speak, because of a knowledge of their careers.

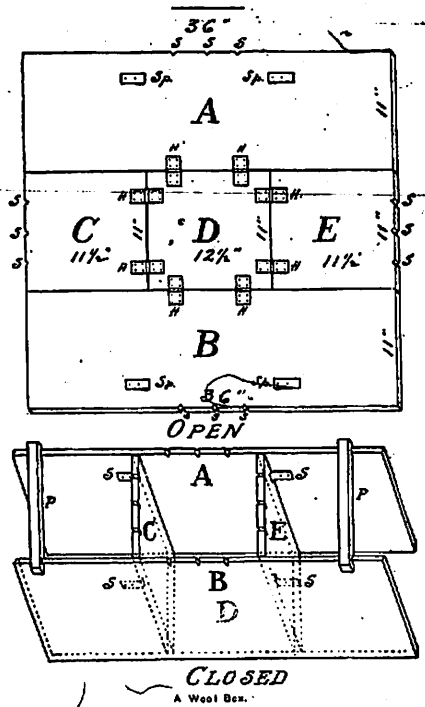

Today, when the cities contain great throngs of people, men are nominated for office who are absolutely unknown to nine-tenths of the population. The only way these candidates can hope to win support is through the newspapers. By a liberal use of advertising space they are able to present sound reasons why they should be elected.

It is not to be denied that the general public has never taken so great an interest in the administration of government as at present. This is due to the earnest and effective work of the newspapers, whose editors are constantly on the lookout for material in office, so matter what party may be in power.

Never have public officials been made so keenly sensitive to public opinion as at present. It is a searchlight that reveals corruption wherever it may exist. When the public learns of its presence it is not slow to act. Decency is stronger than idleness. The majority of the people are honest, and believe that those who administer public affairs shall be governed by the Higher Rule. You can never cure an ill until you know that it exists.

PRactical WOOL RECEPTACLE ATTRACTIVE IN APPEARANCE

Details Given Herewith for Construction of Inexpensive Box for Packing Fleeces So That Woolen Goods Will Show and Keep It Regular and Compact—Any Farmer Can Make One.

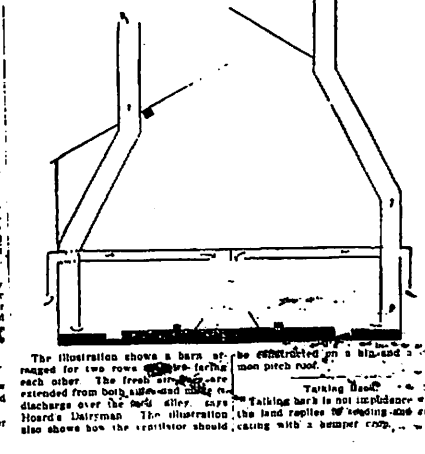

There are several kinds of wool boxes used by growers in taking up fleeces, but the following shows a cheap, practical box that can be easily made by any farmer who can use a saw, square and screw-driver. Write Roscoe Wood in the freedmen's Gazette.

Take three 1 1/2 inch boards two feet long and one foot wide, clear pine, or what is better, oak or walnut; they should be planed and smoothed so that they are about seven-eighths inch thick and 3 1/2 inches wide. Saw one of these boards into three pieces, one 1 1/2 inches long, the other two, C and E, 11 1/2 inches long. Fasten each of the shorter pieces to each end of the piece D with strong iron hinges, which should be set into the board so that when opened the boards lie close together. Then on the side of the piece D fasten the 3-foot piece, A and B, one on each side, in the manner of placing these hinges so that these four boards will raise and form a box, open on the top. Here one can fit the fleeces, with the piece D forming the bottom and the others the sides. Notches can be cut in the outside edges of these boards to hold the strings.

Put on the fleeces the shirn side on the open box, raise the sides A, and B and hold together with pieces C and E. The fleeces should be held in place by 1 by 1/2 inch, about 12 inches long, notched on each end so as to hold these sides, at a width equal to that of the end pieces C and E. Then raise the end pieces C and E to the upright position, and let them be held in place by a heavy steel spring set in on each side on A and B, at a place so that C and E will be held at a right angle to the bottom, D. These springs should be about 1 1/2 inches wide, and set into the board about 1 inch from the top edge, and set far enough into the board so that in shutting the ends, these springs will press down level with the face of the board and after the ends have passed the springs they will spring out about three-fourths inch and thus hold the end. These springs can be secured at any blacksmith's and can be fastened into the board with screws.

With such a box fleeces can be done up so that practically no black ends of the fleeces show, and if the same time the fleeces are regular and compact. A little extra care used in this tying fleeces will save time well spent, for such fleeces present an attractive appearance that appeals to the buyer.

WELL VENTILATED COW BARN

The illustration shows a barn of the construction on a plan and arranged for two rows of stalls. The fresh air enters from the top of the doors and is drawn over the stalls, carrying the bad odors and moisture to the outside. The illustration also shows how the ventilator should be constructed with a bumper door.
