USED SLIP FOR CASH.

Yours truly in trial of former North Dakota Treasurer.

Washburn.—"When I returned to the office after Thanksgiving day, 1914, I found $10,000 cash taken from the drawer, and in its place a city made out by W. D. Auda, deputy state treasurer. A few days later I found a charge of $5,000 against the First National Bank of Bismarck and a similar charge against the First National Bank of Fargo, but nothing in the drawer to count as cash.
"I called Treasurer Blackford's attention to the matter, saying that we were $10,000 short, as the city slip was. He said to put a city slip in the drawer. He told me it should make no difference to me, but that he would be forthcoming in the drawer to count as cash.
"A few days later he placed in the drawer certificates of deposit from the First State Bank of Bismarck for amount aggregating $10,000, and his personal check for $5,000 that was carried in account the last of December." Both were the signature of Mrs. Ellen M. Smith, chief clerk in the state treasury office during the incumbency of Mr. Blackford. Mr. Blackford is on trial on a charge of embezzlement.

The Movement for a Safe and Sane Fourth

It is safe to say that no moral crusade ever in our country has made more rapid progress than this movement for a safe and sane Fourth. It is only a few years since the idea was first suggested in its present tangible form, and yet dozens of towns have already adopted it.

What individual deserves credit for first conceiving the idea of a safe and sane Fourth, and what town or city may claim to have put it into practice, presents almost as moot a question as the famous one as to who first suggested the idea of America's independence.

It is not necessary to go back to the old-fashioned Fourth, and to the days of our grandfathers as there were just prior to this crusade, but then again there may not have been, for the very many makers and recreator manufacturers are busy in later years devising "improvements" in the line that seemed to prove fruitful in the past.

It is not necessary to go back to the old-fashioned Fourth, and to the days of our grandfathers as there were just prior to this crusade, but then again there may not have been, for the very many makers and recreator manufacturers are busy in later years devising "improvements" in the line that seemed to prove fruitful in the past.

When the statistics began to show, a few years ago, that the American people were increasing their participation on the Fourth in a manner that each passed the lives of several dozen persons and injured, more or less, several hundred and others, there was a country-wide protest that resulted in volume.

The safe and sane Fourth is so new that there are few hard and fast facts regarding it, indeed, a comparison of the idea, differing in more or less degree, is encountered in every different city which has adopted the plan. The basic principle is, however, an some people suppose, the abolition of all noise and fireworks on the Fourth.

Some people suppose, the abolition of all noise and fireworks on the Fourth. In the majority of cases, however, they take the stand that these things should be managed, and particularly the fireworks, set off by experienced hands, instead of by children and grownups who have little practice with this sort of thing now, which, perhaps through thoughtlessness are very catching at other people's advice as well as their own.

The extent to which a city can limit the sale of fireworks and make making explosives safe is a matter of local conditions, but it has been a simple matter for the authorities to put a ban on the sale of fireworks in many places.

These accepted plans of providing a safe and sane Fourth are a substitute for the old-time delay and the consequent delay for a fair proportion to give the matter in the hands of a committee of prominent citizens, which raises in subscription a fund of several hundred or several thousand dollars, to defray the expenses of the common celebration, just as money is raised for a street race.

The same aim are constantly kept in mind by the safe and sane Fourth committees. It is to have a safe and sane Fourth in accordance with the safe and sane ideas of the twentieth century.

This latter consideration explains why it is that the new Fourth, and the safe and sane Fourth, are more popular than any other celebration or drill in which hundreds of young children and even kindergartners take part, and which is dressed in red, white and blue, and carrying flags or other suitable emblems of the occasion.

Major of the features of the safe and sane Fourth are old friends familiar to us from the old-fashioned days of the past. For instance, there is the early morning walk of reason, the "parade," embracing the routing of the Declaration of Independence by some local organization on "the day of our birth," and the parade, and the fireworks, and the fireworks, and the fireworks.

The approved style of daylight fireworks consists of a lot of small, brightly colored shells, which are shot high from mortars just as are the bombs which have conspicuous place in all pretentious displays of night fireworks.

The author of "Money" held a high opinion of the influence exerted by his works, especially by "The Money Game." It was an end to the business world and turned the thoughts and ambitions of young gentlemen without number, and young clerks who were sitting in the corner and beating that they were a village.

Advertising Talks

MODERN ADVERTISING

It doesn't seem very years ago a golden anniversary since John W. Warriner started his commercial venture in Philadelphia. But the time named has passed and cannot now be short-circuited.

The event of this merchant's beginning was, it seems, somewhat brave although it began quite small, with a single sheet of newspaper, later.

You are making a great mistake, said George H. Stuart to the boy merchant. "In starting business at such a time as this, in a country is entering upon a great war and there will be no business."

OLD PROCESS IS TOO SLOW

Articles of merit will eventually out themselves, but Advertising Cash Good Results.

"This looks like a good start," started the barber. "The man who is used to the money," replied the hairdresser. "That I never heard of," added the customer.

Begin your advertisement with the sparkle of lightning...

It was really the new note in publicity that was not to be met for other, who in various ways failed to get the best results for their goods of the day. As Thompson said of his poetic flour, do not put them out now, but all possess the blossoms now.

A Little Advertising is a Great Thing

That the larger part of the business world is getting to get the message of newspaper advertising is not surprising. Advertising is the life of the business world. It is the life of the business world.

WESTERN CANADA'S GOOD-CROP PROSPECTS

Fields of wheat will likely be up to 20 bushels per acre.

In an interview with Mr. W. J. White, who is chief of the Canadian government immigration office in the United States, it was learned that the province of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta in Western Canada, the yield that every point he visited...

The price of farm lands at the present time are bidding steady and largely unchanged. The price at which the price set this spring, ranging from $15 to $20 per acre, but it is possible to purchase a good farm...

Mr. White says that these lands are as cheap as the prairie crops with the country's proven worth as they were a few years ago at half the price when the general public had but a very faint idea of the true quality of the land in Canada.

The homestead lands are becoming scarcer day by day and those who are unable to purchase are preferring to homestead, are "digging their own dirt" in the park area...

It is expected that the wheat crop in the north part of the central prairie will be a bumper crop. This is due to the fact that the wheat is now in the hands of the farmer...

IN THE WORLD OF JUNIORS

Public opinion seems the child world. Sometimes this public opinion is created by what an intelligent child has learned through older people, sometimes it comes of the children's own reasoning.

There must be a suggestion for older people in this method of treating offenders in their midst. Punishment by the family's ostracism may bring an end of indifference-conceit.

HIRAM CARPENTER'S WONDERFUL CURE OF PSORIASIS.

"I have been afflicted for twenty years with an obstinate skin disease, called by some M. D.'s, psoriasis, and others leprosy, commencing on my scalp, and in spots all I could do with the help of the most skillful doctors, it slowly but surely extended until a year ago this winter it covered my entire person in the form of dry scales. For the last three years I have been unable to do any labor, and suffering intensely all the time.

The above remarkable testimonial was written January 19, 1880, and is reprinted because of the permanency of the cure. Under date of April 22, 1910, Mr. Carpenter writes from his present home, 610 Walnut St., St. Louis, Mo.:

"This bride across the way is the sweetest woman I ever saw, and she does any work about the house."

IMPROVE OUR HORSES

Any Farmer Can Raise Good Draft Horses if He Will.

Stallion Must Have Quality, Individual Merit, With Square, True, Free, Perfect, Snappy Action—Avoid the Scrub.

For hundreds of years "horse breeders" in this country and in Europe have been hard at work trying to improve the "draft horse." For a long time they made slow progress, owing to the fact that the fundamental principle of breeding was not as well understood as it is at the present time.

It is both encouraging and highly pleasing for us to note that the "hobby-horse" always has been, and is being, very favorably with the best that the importers can find in Europe.

Pasting Death. Why should we consent even to the smallest of acts of outrage in our pagan crappings of wool at every death? We may grieve that we are left behind; that a comrade whose face and voice and interpretation of the make half our joy should pass beyond our grasp. But if we believe that death is going to justify itself as he has justified itself, there is no right or reason in exuberant grief. We were made to go onward. There is no permanent stoppage in the great procession of present passing. From one eternity to another. And when we are turned to water "farwell" to one who goes beyond our sight, let us be comforted by the thought of his gladness. "There is nothing to be mourned," writes the good gray poet to one about to die. "I do not come to bid you farewell, but to bid you welcome to the other side."—Globe, Wabash, in Harper's Bazar.
