100,000 WILL WANT CLAIMS.

This Is Prediction of Judge Witten, Who Will Have Charge of Opening.

Minot, N. D., Aug. 9.—Judge James W. Witten, who will be in Minot on Aug. 11, ready to take charge of the opening of the Berthold Indian reservation, which will open for approximately 100, 000 people will register. If this prediction is realized, about one in fifty will get claims.

The registration will take place at Minot, Bismarck, Ryder and Plaza. Minot expects about 60 per cent of the registration for the reason that it is the headquarters of the government officials and is the place where the drawing will be made on Sept. 6. Further than this, Minot, at the junction of the two transcontinental lines, the Great Northern and the Soo, both have done extensive advertising in the east.

Quite a few land seekers have already arrived in the four registration points. The Minot hotels are beginning to fill up with home-seekers, and the commercial club is busy arranging lists of persons who have rooms for rent, so that as many as possible may be accommodated.

The Western Union is putting on several additional telegraph operators to handle the increased business resulting from the opening of the Postmaster A. D. Murphy has employed several assistants to handle the increased business in the postoffice.

The appearance of Lucky Bob St. Henry in his Curtiss bi-plane on Aug. 11 and 15, the two first days of the opening, promises to attract many additional people to Minot. Lucky Bob has made flights in northwestern United States and Canada and everywhere he has met with success, which accounts for his appellation, "Lucky Bob."

Bad Egg Law.

There has been considerable complaint lately over getting bad eggs so we herewith give the law in regard to selling or offering for sale eggs that are not fit for human food. It is a good idea to bring the eggs in as soon as possible for after standing a few days in hot weather eggs become decomposed and if the person can offer them to for sale desire they can have them prosecuted according to law. Following is the penalty for violation of the law:

Any person violating any of the provisions of this Act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall for each offense be punished by a fine of not less than $25.00 nor more than $100.00, and all necessary costs, including the expense of analyzing such adulterated articles, when said person has been found guilty under this Act.
Products found to be adulterated within the meaning of this Act may, by order of the Court, be seized and ordered destroyed.

Reapportionment Bill Signed.

Washington, Aug. 9.—President Taft today signed the reapportionment bill under which the house of representatives is increased from 391 to 433 members, with two more if Arizona and New Mexico are admitted to the Union.

This makes the bill a law and gives North Dakota a new congressman.

SETTLERS WANT SAME RIGHTS

The Dickinson Settlers Desire to Be Included in the Warren Bill.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Settlers in the Dickinson landoffice have petitioned Representative Hanna to be included in the benefits proposed by the Warren bill, which will grant leaves of absence of settlers in a number of western states for a period of one year.

All North Dakota landoffice districts were included save Dickinson, when the bill passed. Representative Hanna announced that he will offer the Dickinson request as an amendment to the bill when it comes up for passage in the house.

Crop Outlook Improved.

Bismarck, N. D., Aug. 9.—With the starting of the harvest and the completion of some threshing it is shown that crop conditions in this state are not as bad as was feared earlier in the season. Winter wheat is coming to the front in a manner that is pleasing to those who have maintained for years that it is a good crop in North Dakota. Oats in most places are going better than was expected and barley is in almost all instances a good crop.

In McLean county where for a time it was feared there would be practically no crop in a good many places the estimate is now being made for an average of eight bushels over the entire county. This in place of an absolute failure as was the case last year makes the people feel rather good.

The rains of the past week have improved the fax outlook until in many places there will be 100 per cent crop and this in connection with the fact that there is the same per cent of increase in acreage over the slope country, at least, makes prospects good. Harvesting is general and a good deal of threshing is being done.

Gone to God's Country

The following notice was found tacked on the wall of a deserted shanty on a homestead in the wild region of Canada: "Four miles from a neighbor, sixteen miles from a railroad, twenty miles from a school house, forty miles from a church, hundred and eighty miles from a Democrat, half a mile from hell and the same distance from a Republican. Gone to North Dakota which is God's country to get a fresh start."

Prison's "Pull" Abolished.

An academy where money was being taught on the most approved lines by experts in the profession was discovered by the police at Berlin lately.
The principal, who was old, fat, and fortified with this immaturity. There is not a hygienic law that this interesting person has broken, and his great secretions seems to have been to defy the police. At length to the satisfaction of the police there came a blast, and the matter was brought under the notice of the court, who has not only abolished the "conviction," but the prison's restrictions and given instructions that in future he must act as an ordinary citizen, or stand the consequences.

THING HE CAN'T DO WITHOUT

His Regular Sleep, and This He Finds He Must Have at His Regular Hours.

"One thing that I find I must have," said a man of mature years, "is sleep, and in order to keep fit and able to work I must not only have my full amount of sleep, but I must have it in my regular sleeping hours."

"When I was a youngster I could go without sleep, or I could take an hour or two at any time of the night and get up the next morning and go to it fresh as a daisy, but it isn't so now. If I cut off an hour or two's sleep now I am dull next day. Not until the next day after that, after a full night's sleep, do I come back all right. And even after my full number of hours of sleep, if there have been any hours or two later than usual, with the sleep continued later, I don't feel chipper; I don't have my full sleep in my regular hours. I account for this on the supposition that I now have strength enough to keep me going through the day in good shape, just so long and no longer; if I work or sit up later I overtax my strength and so make myself comparatively overworked; and to recover from this I must come back to my accustomed ways of living."

SAVED FOR FURTHER SERVICE

Good Old Teapot, Precious Relic, Could Not Be Allowed to Become Prize of Flames.

The hotel is in flames. Justly the guests and servants gaze at the remaining pyre. Suddenly they see the proprietor dash madly in at the blazing doorway.

"He has gone to rescue someone!" they said.
Tensely they wait his reappearance.
One minute. Two minutes. Three.
Has he perished in that crackling burning?

Not Not So, there he comes, stayed and scorched, but safe.

What is that he carries so carefully to his arm? It is the hotel teapot, half full of nice black tea.

Cheers rewarded the proprietor for his noble act of sacrifice.
For twice the teapot has stood on the back of the kitchen range, boiling faithfully away. For twenty years it has poured out its life in blood in response to the calls of the transient world for drink, and the tea leaves in its dark old depths will do for many years to come—Newark Times.

Young Girl's Brave Act.
Remarkable bravery and presence of mind were displayed lately by Eugenie Franklin, aged 16, of New York, when she saved two boys from being burned to death. Half a dozen youngsters bedecked in war costumes or Indians were playing around a "cannon fire" in a vacant lot, when George McCullough, aged six, got too close to the fire, and his clothes became ignited. His brother, Alexander, a year older, tried to beat out the flames and the fire spread to his clothing. The girl leaping out of the window of her home saw the accident, and the two brothers rolling on the ground. She ran out of doors, leaped over a fence and snatched a fire hose and then the other boys and even she till the fire was extinguished.
Both boys were unconscious, but not seriously injured.

"You got your jacket for $35? No, retained to be jacket of my office building for $50."

"Well, you see, I hired him as a superintendent."

Much More Mysterious.
George III. was wondering how the apple got in the dumpling.

"That's nothing," they retorted.
"How does a peach get in a bobbie skirt?"

Douglas C. Pitkins, of Minneapolis, was in town the first part of the week looking over his flax crops. Mr. Pitkins has considerable ground into flax near this city and he has good prospects of harvesting a bumper crop.

Postmaster Templeton left on Tuesday morning for his old home at Monroe, Iowa. Ed. was feeling a trifle homesick for the place of boyhood days so decided to make it a short visit. He expects to return in about two weeks.

The meetings held here during last week and part of this week were well attended and the preaching pastor, Rev. Hammond, now of Steele, N. D., made a great impression on our people during his short stay here. Rev. Hammond is an able speaker and also a fine singer and he is a congenial gentleman at all times. Our citizens were exceedingly sorry to see him leave and wish him success wherever he may go and he has a standing offer to come here at any time in the future.

Mrs. E. C. Rolph, of the Heart River Country was in Almont yesterday, having brought in Mr. Strain and her daughter, who left for their home at Muscatine, Iowa. Mrs. Rolph states that she has a fine quarter of land out there and that her crop of flax is coming along far better than she expected.

Mr. Hill, of Bismarck, the gentleman who writes up the different cities of this state for the Bismarck Tribune, was in town Tuesday and Wednesday of this week getting material for a big writeup of Almont. Mr. Hill is working for the best paper on earth and every farmer should subscribe for the Bismarck Tribune so as to get all the writup about Almont. We will gladly take your subscription for that paper and send it for you.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Strain and little son, Paul, of Muscatine, Iowa, who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Strain's mother, Mrs. E. C. Rolph, in the Heart River country, left yesterday for their home after spending two of the most enjoyable weeks of their lives in North Dakota. Mr. Strain seemed well pleased with this part of the country and while here he purchased a fine quarter section of land in the Heart country. He stated that the crops up here looked exceedingly good while in Iowa there would hardly be anything to speak of this year at all. This certainly speaks well for this part of the country tributary to Almont and we have many surprises for the people of other states at all times.

The August Companion.

One of the most interesting things in the August Woman's Home Companion is an article which reports the girlhood of Mary Garden, the famous grand opera singer. The article is one of a series just beginning which is to treat of the girlhood of a number of prima donnas. The present article contains a thrilling account of Miss Garden's first great public appearance in Paris. It was a sudden call into an important part, and the young woman made herself famous in a night.

"How I Sold My Daughters" is the title of an extraordinary piece of self revelation by a mother. "Art in America" is an interesting illustrated series by George Alfred Williams. "What a Men Expect of a Girl" and Margaret E. Sangster's talk on youth and old age are notable features.

Unusual fiction is contributed by Zona Gale, Fannie Henslip Lea, Dorcas Davis, Frederick M. Smith, Mary Hastings Bradley, Harriet P. Smith and others.

On the practical side are several important contributions in addition to the regular fashion and household departments. All sorts of excellent, useful suggestions are made along various lines. Dr. Jean Williams' article on "Home Sanitation" will be found valuable to home-makers everywhere. "Water Sport for Girls" is a most entertaining article for the general reader as well as for beginners at swimming. "Summer Dances and Parties" and "Outdoor Games for Boys and Girls" furnish many ideas for entertainment.

LAND! LAND! LAND! Buyers and traders will do well to see me before departing elsewhere as I have any sort of proposition you wish. M. C. Brannen, Steele, N. D.

TRACTION STRIKERS RIOT IN DES MOINES

BREAK EVERY WINDOW IN THE BUILDING; DESPITE POLICE INTERFERENCE.

COURT ORDERS STRIKE STOPPED.

Important Men Are Forced to Leave City After Non-Unionists Take Riot in Jail From Mob Fury.

Des Moines, Aug. 8.—Sympathizers with striking employees of the Des Moines City Railway company, several hundred strong, mobbed the office building of the company at 10th and Webster streets, in which is located the office of General Manager J. R. Harrison, and shattered every window in the building.

Leaders of the rioters, unimpaired of a court mandamus ordering the strike to be ended, and inflammatory speeches before the attack on the building began. An attempt to enter the office was blocked by the police until the rioters had broken down the building badly damaged.

After a fight, marked with many riots, wild hunts for strikers, assaults on the police, and the burning of a car, the rioters were dispersed by the police.

It was also ordered by the court that the strike be ended, and that the employees be allowed to return to work as fast as they could be reached.

At midnight, however, International Order of Workers, a branch of the union announced that the strike of the Des Moines City Railway employees was ended, so far as the union was concerned.

The striking rioter car men required just one day in which to rid Des Moines of the 200 odd strikers who had been brought into the city to man the cars from Chicago, Omaha and Cleveland.

The Iowa hotel, in which the rioters were housed, was surrounded by a great mob of union sympathizers, which demanded that the strikers be turned over to it, and for their own protection.

The strikers were turned over to it, and for their own protection. The rioters were turned over to it, and for their own protection.

DUTCH WINDMILL IN KANSAS

Only One in the North-West State Still Grinds Wheat for the Wind.

Topoka, Kan.—An old Dutch windmill, the kind one sees in pictures of the canal of Europe, has been in operation in Kansas for 40 years and it is still doing duty, making the feature Kansas' capital do the work that is ordinarily required of water power or steam.

The mill, built on the banks of the river at Topoka, a quaint little village in Smith county. It is 15 miles from the river, and is the only windmill in the country.

There are many Dutch mills on farms near there and their use and four is ground as in the old country, by the windmill. It is the only mill of the kind in the state. One was built before the war at Lawrence, but this one was blown down several years ago.

The mill was built by Charles Schwan, a Dutchman from Holland. He had been a miller in his native land and when he came to Kansas to seek his fortune, he found a Dutch mill on the banks of the river.

Schwan saw in this an opportunity to make his fortune. He bought the mill and the land on which it stood, and he began to grind wheat for the wind.

And for nearly forty years the old mill has been doing duty, working when the wind blows, resting when the calm comes, keeping its gentle master many a farm in profitable condition for the public roundabout, and a competence for the man who has an opportunity and the skill and perseverance to make it his own.

LITTLE SAM is going to stand sponsor this autumn for one of the most novel and most interesting competitive contests ever conducted. So far as known no other government in the world has ever conducted such a tournament and it is bound to attract attention far and wide. Moreover this unique event is all the more interesting and all the more commendable from the fact that its purpose is not merely biting contents in mine rescue work under approximately the same conditions that would prevail after an actual mining disaster.

Now the Red Cross has been collecting money frequently of late years to relieve a hand among some great misadventures, and it is today among the most interesting and educating many children and women fathers. The Red Cross has been in the past few years. Thus the Red Cross officials have brought home to them the need of the Red Cross to save lives in the future and to reduce the number of deaths of some accidents. And anyway the Red Cross has become deeply interested in late years in the Red Cross. The Red Cross has been so that it is now distributing "first aid" relief all over the country and has on the road of the Red Cross a special car with instructors who travel all over the country. The Red Cross has been Red Cross workers and instructors in the "first aid" work. So that, in view of all this, it is fundamental that the Red Cross should want to be interested in the Red Cross. The Red Cross is interested in the cause. And finally, the Red Cross, who have much at stake, have through their own organization volunteered to help make how to carry on rescue work if a disaster does occur.

The result of this plan of Uncle Sam in having these "intentional" miners of the First Aid course of instruction traveling up and down the mining regions, showing the emergency and miners what to do in an emergency and how to do it, has been that a considerable portion of the underground workers are coming to have some knowledge of what to do to relieve the suffering of our neighbors in these old caverns where death and ruin are but a hand's throw away.

For example, a feature of the government plan and the Red Cross plan to organize at each mine a voluntary "First Aid" squad, which

The result of this development of a humanitarian attitude in the civil mines has been that we now find at least a small number of cases of "first aid" workers who are thoroughly qualified for their work. They are not only first aiders, but also competent fellow-workmen or for miners even more so, by pituitous gases as would the experts or any one of the government mine rescue crews and who are fit to mind to act immediately in case of an emergency. It is these "first aid" workers who are expected to give first aid to competitors in rescue work at the big gatherings in Western Pennsylvania. "Trams" made up of the "first aid" workers are sent to the rescue training for muscular for the event, working to be able to do each stunt in the shortest possible time.

Difficult Problem of Destroying the Young Insects.

(By C. D. WALDRON, Horticulturalist, North Dakota Agricultural College).
Those who failed last fall or early this spring to destroy the grasshopper eggs deposited during the summer are confronted with the more difficult problem of destroying the young grasshoppers at this time. Reports of damage are beginning to come in, chiefly so far of injury to gardens. The hatching commences early in May and the fields sure to suffer considerable injury are those lying alongside of unplowed stubble fields or old worn-out pastures. As the insects hatch out from these places they will naturally move on to the adjoining grain fields and increase in power.

It may not be too late to plow strips of the stubble nearest to the main gradually widening this as rapidly as possible till the field is plowed. We have succeeded in saving many grain fields in this manner even though the plowing was not begun till the hatching process was over.

Great numbers of the young insects are turned under by the plow, particularly if the central strip of earpiece of land is left to be finished late in the evening when the insects are not active. The catching of the young insects as they are passing from their hatching grounds in streams of last resort and should not be necessary when other and more methods for grubwormer destruction have been applied.

The large puns or "bopper-dozers" that have ordinarily been used for this purpose can readily be made into local blacksmith shops at a total of about eight dollars. The "pan-doser" consists of a galvanized iron pan usually made 13 feet long and about two and one-half feet wide and divided by cross partitions into about five compartments. This pan should be mounted on wheels about two feet long and one foot wide, under either end and joined by two pieces of two by four placed along the front and back edges of the pan. The pan is made of the pan—upright—pieces—two feet high are firmly nailed to which a strip of canvas is fastened. This canvas is drawn over the front and back of the pan so that the front of the pan as it is drawn forward is given in use the pan contains an inch or so of water with a film of kerosene or oil on the top about a quarter an inch thick.

The canvas at the back end should also be kept saturated with kerosene. It is drawn by a horse hitched to a pulley.

across from the draw ropes serves to make the hoppers jump and when they come down the pan is under them. Those that succeed in escaping from the pan will die after a short time as the smallest amount of the oil is fatal. On one occasion with this method we succeeded in catching over 100 bushels of half-grown hoppers alongside of one field. Last season we poisoned immense numbers in the canyons with poisoned bran.

This is made by adding one-fourth of a pound of Paris green to a bushel of dry bran, mixing thoroughly. To this is added one gallon of molasses and enough water to make it wet. This is then scattered broadcast over the garden where it seems to be eaten in preference to anything else. It is a mistake to assume that heavy spring rains or even snows are likely to seriously affect the grasshoppers or their eggs. They are very hardy and are found in large numbers such as the gull or snipe of inland fescue where they are bound to increase unless the proper means are employed for their destruction. The simplest and most effective method is to plow under the eggs. When that is neglected other more difficult means are necessary.

Diagram illustrating the assembly of a bolted rule. The rule consists of three panels (Panel 1st, Panel 2nd, Panel 3rd) bolted together. The diagram shows the panels being bolted together with bolts and washers. Dimensions are indicated: 2 inches for the stuff, and various lengths for the panels and bolts.

To start a dairy herd begin with the native cow, was the advice given by Col. R. A. Wilkins, at the Cavalier farmers' institute. Select those that suit you the best, that have the type that you want and from those breed up by using a sire from some one of the dairy breeds and then continue to select sires from the same breed and better yet from the same family. The third cross will be as good as the pure-bred for practical purposes, but of course not for breed-

Care and feed are important considerations and that is one of the reasons that it is a good plan to start with the native Leaver how by practicing on her, then as the breeding up goes on the owner will increase his

HUMAN HANDICAPS.

We do not require the same attainments from all. Some are well taught, some are ill taught, some are not taught at all. Some have naturally good dispositions. Not one has had power to fasten the law completely. Therefore the measure in him is for him. We reckon as faults the only which arise from idleness, willfulness, selfishness and deliberate preference of evil to good. Each is judged according to what he has received.—James Anthony Froude
