Fascination of a Train.

What is there that fascinates most of us in the sight of a railroad train?

Mr. Wilson Young, in the London England Saturday Review, finds that there is in the railway
"a fascination that begins with earliest childhood and with people who retain an agreeable curiosity about life, never quite ceases. Is it an inheritance from the wonder of a century ago when they seemed to revolutionize human life, or is it something more subtle and inherent in themselves?"

The admiration and wonder excited by a railroad train has been seen at its topmost pitch recently at the City office of the Northern Pacific in Saint Paul, where a miniature model of the deluxe North Coast Limited made entirely out of sugar, has been on display to the public. Over 15 feet long and complete down to the details of the mechanism of the locomotive, including an electric headlight, rails, ties, telegraph poles, switches and signals, this model has been the admiration of every beholder.

Built by Fred Kaul, head cook at the Saint Paul Bakery Shop of the Northern Pacific, the train is a striking example of the versatility of the baker's art. This model will be exhibited at the land shows to be held this Fall in New York, Omaha, Saint Paul and elsewhere.
This is one of the most unique methods yet adopted by a railroad in advertising, and the model train is a boost, not only for the superb North Coast Limited train which it represents, but also for the Dining Car Department of the road, which has in the last few years achieved a country-wide reputation for excellence.

4-CORPORATIONS

WILL REORGANIZE

WICKERSHAM MAKES AGREEMENTS TO BRING THEM WITHIN THE LAW.

EVEN STEEL TRUST MAY COME IN Electrical, Harvester, Grocers and Powder Companies Agreed to Agree with the Attorney General.

New York, Oct. 4.—When Attorney General Wickersham returns to Washington next week, he will carry with him, agreements from four and possibly five of the largest corporations in the United States to reorganize their business or disintegrate after the fashion of the United States supreme court order in the case of the American Tobacco company and the Standard Oil company.

The four corporations which are known to be planning to reorganize are: the electrical trust, the Dupont Powder company, the Southern Wholesale Grocers' association, and the International Harvester company.

Notwithstanding the recent statement of J. P. Morgan and Judge R. H. Gray, it is stated on the best of authority that it is possible that the United States Steel corporation will follow in the footsteps of the International Harvester company, with which it is closely associated.

Budden Change of Attitude.

This attitude, it is stated, was not made known to Wickersham until the late Alfred S. Budd, president of the International Harvester company, was successful in every effort to compromise with him.

The attorney general is now working out the details of the reorganization of the four corporations named, and he may be called upon to undertake a similar task with the steel trust.

Before the end of the week the attorney general expects to have signed agreements from them which will set forth in detail the manner of doing business in the future.

Take Agreements Into Court.

In the near future the attorney general will take these agreements into a United States circuit court. Counsel for the corporations will inform the court of their willingness to reorganize in conformity with the agreement.

The attorney general will then ask the court to decree the reorganization of the four corporations. The object of this procedure is to hold the corporations to their agreements.

If the parties to an agreement were merely the department of justice and the corporation, the department would be compelled to take litigation of a prolonged nature for the purpose of enforcing the agreement. By having the agreement placed in the hands of a federal court, however, the corporations immediately place themselves in a position where they can be prosecuted for contempt of court if they fail to carry out the agreement.

A city on an island in the Neuse, and the North sea. Most of the crews were drowned. Twenty-eight bodies were washed up near Steenbergen.

Clark was charged with assault with intent to murder. The jury found him guilty. Judge Thoma gave Tip the maximum sentence under that charge.

ILLINOIS GIRLS MURDERED

AUTHORITIES ARE CONFRONTED WITH DEEP MYSTERY.

Believed Victim's End Was Planned—Possessive for Evidence.

Disco, Ill., Oct. 4.—With the discovery in a ravine of the body of a young woman, the authorities are confronted with another hidden mystery. William W. W. and his wife were gathered near the woods on the farm of Mat Schorr, four miles north of this city, and in company with the lady, a young man who they uncovered the body. Nothing was found near the body which would aid in identification and every shred of evidence was taken.

The victim's finger ring was severed. Phyllis, the young woman, had been dead about two weeks. She was about 25 years of age, 5 feet 4 inches tall, weight about 140 pounds, with a wealth of light brown hair and large brown eyes. The body was taken to the morgue of the city of Chicago, where the coroner's inquest was held. When found, the body was lying face downward in a ravine and was partially covered by a large tree.

Although Sheriff Held of Lee and Delaney of Ogle counties, and half a hundred deputies, have searched every foot of ground, no vestige of clothing has been found. The only possible means of identification are two gold brooches in the deceased woman's left upper jaw.

The most plausible theory advanced by officials is that the dead woman was a resident of some nearby city, where she had been feared among the people, wanted out of the way, and her body was thrown in an automobile, with her possible death in view.

SUPERIOR HAS $25,000 FIRE.

Gasoline Spreads on Water of Bay and Burns Pilecity.

Duluth, Oct. 4.—A fire originating in some mysterious manner in gasoline that was spread out on the water, later to Tower bay ship in Superior, did damage to the amount of $25,000 and property worth millions was threatened and for an hour or more was in danger. The damage is confined to the destruction of two ferry boats, two launches and to the property of the Northwestern Oil Company and Tower Bay dock.

The fire department, Superior, fought the fire, over tanks of naphtha fearfully and with the same shore as it were, no much water. How the gasoline got on the water is not known. Where the tank leaked from has not been established, but it was fired by a spark from some boat, and the water of the bay was instantly scorched in flames. The fire burned furiously among the tanks of the Northwestern Oil Company, and did considerable damage to the property of the fire department under conditions of the greatest personal danger. The fire was old. They were the Harry Lloyd and Pashon owned by Captain A. C. Mayo.

Devils Lake—October 12, 13 and 14 are the dates fixed for the conference at Fort Totten for the Indian fair to be held at the agency. For the first exposition the council hall will be used for the exhibits.

A very interesting address was delivered by F. H. Abbott, assistant commissioner of Indian affairs of Washington, which embodied the Indians present to no small degree. He in-corrected the Indians in every possible manner as to follow agriculture to modern methods, improve their opportunities on the richest land in the country and help themselves and their families in every way.

The fair this year will be of necessity on a small scale. The exhibits will be few, but the start will be made this season, the interest of the reservation residents aroused and next fall with the experience gained, great improvements can be shown. Superintendent Ziesbach has extended an invitation to the general public to visit the fair on the dates named, and see what is being done.

Webster—Isen day was celebrated at the Richland county fair and a program in keeping with the occasion was carried out. There was music to some of Isen's works, including "Aetna's Dance": a speech by President Smith of the scenic school; the unveiling of an Isen statue by Miss Mario Wickman of Webster, and several addresses and singing in No-wegian.

A banquet was served to a host attended by Congressman L. B. Hanna of Fargo and other prominent people of the state. President G. W. Hanna bet of the agricultural college judged the boys' corn contest. The first prize in the general contest was won by Leslie Hanson of Fairmont, secured by Clifford G. Marsh of Grandin, and third by Earl W. Pesse of Center.
Aviator Gill reached a height of 1,000 feet in spite of high winds and remained in the air half an hour.

THE RUSSELL CASE

PROBATE JUDGE DISMISSES ALL PROCEEDINGS IN THE LOWER COURT.

DAKOTA DAN STILL FIGHTS

Effort to Have Appeal, Tried, Before Jury to Be Made in Fight for $100,000 Estate of Daniel

Cambridge, Mass.—All the proceedings in the probate court instituted by the attorneys for Daniel Blake Russell of Dickinson, N. D., claimant for one-half of the estate of Daniel Russell of Melrose, were dismissed and the controversy involving the identity of the Dickinson man, which occupied the probate court for six months last year, was sent to the supreme court on exception.

Daniel Blake Russell.

Inasmuch as all of which were overruled by the court.

An effort to have the appeal from the probate court tried before a jury will be the next step in the case. The North Dakota claimant says he is a son of the testator, although last spring a resident of Fresno, Cal., was recognized as the missing heir.

The Russell estate was worth about $600,000 before the expensive litigation was begun and was left to the two sons, William C. and Daniel Blake. Daniel Blake left home many years ago and was not heard of for a long time. The defense insists that the Dickinson case is in reality one Rousseau of Medina, N. Y., although attorneys say Rousseau is dead.

One of the features will be a public reception to the visitors, at which the visitors will be given an opportunity of becoming acquainted with the local people. This reception is to be tendered by the Devils Lake Commercial club. Another portion of the elaborate entertainment program is the "Federation tea," at which Devils Lake women will act in the role of entertainers.

Another arrangement is that made by several church societies of the city, which societies will serve all meals to the delegates attending.

??????

We will sell you land cheaper than you can rent. If you are ambitious and willing to work the land we will sell you a good quarter on crop payments. You get one-half of the crop and the other half you apply on the purchase price of the land. It's just like renting land excepting that when you have raised so much grain you get a Warranty Deed to the land and it is yours, while if you rent you rent you get nothing but a receipt and a chance to move to another rented place. If we didn't have faith in our land we couldn't and wouldn't sell it in this way. Write to us for further particulars.
