Walt Mason says: "The editor is the town confessor, the town boomer and the town goat, downy, sack of refuge, errand boy and the vicarious sacrifice. He is the only creature in all the wide animal kingdom that needs the wings of a dove, the strength of a lion, the protective odor of the skunk, the smooth crawling belly of the worm of the dust, and the aspiration of a God."

March 2nd, 1912, will be Market Day in Almont. Every farmer that has anything that he would like to dispose of is requested to bring the same in and it will be sold on the above day. Our merchants have decided to each sell one article at cost on that date and bills will be circulated stating what it will be in a short time. Now don't forget the date and watch for the large bills.

Young man, remember this: All the friends who can gather about you can never make your life a success; neither can your enemies make it a failure. It rests with you to determine whether you shall succeed or fail. Just put this thought on your memoranda, and study it carefully. —Marmarth Mail.

It is not our desire to be the "whole cheese" but we want our interests considered. When some one or two parties with a preverted mind think that they can write up "inquiries" for out-of-town publications, censuring the citizens of our fair-riding city, our blood boils, and we are compelled to take up arms in their behalf. If the people in your townships will your taste, why just pack your few belongings in the old cheese bag and No. 8 will make you in fast time. We will have you in the "bag" for you. We are here to stay and it would be folly to try making the rest of us go.

Good Things!

IT has been our intention to each week publish a list of the many good things arriving at our store, but for one reason or another we have failed to do this. If we were to tell you about all the different articles that we carry for your wants it would more than fill this paper and you would say that we were trying to monopolize this whole territory. Merchandise and fancy eatables are arriving at our store so often that it would make our head swim to even try to remember them all.

Groceries, Dry Goods, Hardware, Kitchen Utensils

are found in our big stores and we can please you all. When in need of anything in these lines just call in let us show you just what we have.
