Farmers' Clubs

Meritorious Special Article on a Timely and Interesting Matter.

The Agricultural Extension Division is making every effort to effect the organization of a farmers club in every agricultural community in Minnesota before January 1, 1914. To accomplish this we have secured the help of the county agricultural agents, the high school agriculturalists, the county superintendents of schools and many rural school teachers. We also have had letters from many farmers and business men assuring us of their support in this work, but we want more help. Consequently, we intend to issue several circulars and bulletins during the next month in which we will lay before the people our plan and give statements of what these farmers' clubs are, what they are doing for the people in 300 communities of Minnesota that have them and how they can be organized. We hope you will read all these circulars through, and if you become interested in this proposition, that you will write us about it and talk the matter over with your neighbor.

What a Farmers' Club is.

A farmers' club is simply a local organization of a group of farmers and their families who have adopted a constitution, elected necessary officers, and meet once a month or oftener at some farm home, school-house, hall, or other suitable meeting place, where they spend a few hours together, visiting, and giving their regular program.

Advantages of a Farmers' Club.

The work taken up by these clubs usually is more diversified than that of any other organization in a community as they are not organized for any one purpose. They may be of advantage to a community in three ways, socially, educationally, and financially.

SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.

The social advantages come thru their meetings. People are brought together here who do not get together at any other place. Near neighbors meet at the club and visit, who do not see one another at any other time, just because they do not make it a point to visit regularly. In one community in the western part of the State, the proposition of organizing a farmers' club was brought before a few farmers by their County Agricultural Agent. Each farmer said there was no community spirit in the neighborhood and that it would be impossible to organize a club there and keep it active. The agent persisted, however, and got the community together for a meeting and a club was organized. Last summer this club held a picnic which more than 200 people attended. A representative from Agricultural Extension Division was there and questioned a few of the people present about the club. Everybody said that the club was the best thing the community ever had. One old man said he had not seen such a large and congenial crowd of people together in that neighborhood during the twenty-six years he had lived there. Another said that the year before one could not get a crowd together even for a "dog fight." Many of the ladies said that they had seen more of their neighbors during the last year than they had the five years previous, and had noticed how much more interest the young folks were taking in the affairs of the community and how much more contented they seemed to be. Every man, woman, and child in the neighborhood looked forward to clubday with much interest. And this all developed in a few months in a community which was said to have no community spirit. Many instances could be cited where club day is the big day of the month and overshadows everything else. Nothing but sickness will keep the people away from the meetings.

EDUCATIONAL ADVANTAGES.

The educational features of these club meetings is the strongest argument in their favor. The men, women, and children are all trained in public speaking and learn how to think when on their feet before a crowd and how to depict themselves in a gathering. The bashfulness of the children and growing boys gradually disappears. They learn to talk easily with grown people. The distrustfulness which so often is found to prevail disappears and all meet on a friendly basis. This is due as much to education as it is to the fact that the people are better acquainted.

If one will stop to think of the nature of these club meetings and the programs, he can easily see their value from an educational viewpoint. The children and younger people usually furnish the entertainment features of these programs, which consist of recitations, readings, and music. Every parent is proud of his child when he does well on the program, and spends much time in training the child for his part. The reading, recitations, and music keep the younger people interested in the club meetings and enliven the program which would be too heavy and dry if made up only of the discussions of farm topics. The opening of the main discussions on the program is usually assigned to some member who is especially well informed on the subject under discussion and can get the rest of the people in the meeting to think on it. Every one knows that it is easier to follow a good speaker than it is to open the discussion himself, and many people will add good points who could never be persuaded to open an argument.

LOCAL SPEAKERS FOR PROGRAM.

In every community there are farmers who seem to be making more of a success of some line of farming than their neighbors and usually are backward in talking about their business. But if these men can be gotten on their feet during some club meeting and plied with questions they will give a good talk and add much to the general knowledge of the community. If every community could make general the knowledge which each individual of the community has, it would not need any outside help whatever and would increase its efficiency a hundred per cent. Facts given by such men as these are of untold value in the community, as they are acquainted with local conditions, and what they have done in the community and can be repeated by any other man in the locality. And after a little practice some of these backward speakers become the best in the club. Nothing but practice can make one a fluent speaker.

INSTITUTE AND SHORT COURSES.

Another educational feature of these clubs is their ability to bring in outside talent which will add to the general information of the community. A club may be the means of bringing a farmers institute to its locality, and this community will stand a far better chance of getting a good corps of workers than a community without a club, as the institute secretary is sure of the club's interest in the meetings and that the meetings will be well advertised and attended. Many clubs have brought the first institute to their localities. The club may decide to hold a short course for a few days during the winter. It can get a man and woman from the Agricultural Extension Division and invite the high school agriculturists from the high schools about them to help. This force, with the local men who are interested and can talk, will give an excellent short course which will last for several days and should be equal to or surpass a farmers' institute meeting.

THE HELP OF BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN.

Many of the clubs of the State invite business and professional men to their meetings and ask them to talk. In every instance of which we have any knowledge the people invited have been more than pleased and have given good talks. At one club meeting in western Minnesota a dentist was asked to give a talk on the care of the teeth and how every one should have his teeth examined at least once a year. Then he offered to examine the teeth of any club member free of charge and if any needed attention they should feel at perfect liberty to go wherever they liked to have the work done. Personal hygiene was discussed by a physician at another meeting and a trained nurse discussed first aid to the injured. Lawyers might be invited to discuss economics, business forms, and farm law. Nearly all ministers are glad to attend club meetings and talk. Farmers from other neighborhoods, who have made a success with some particular line of farming can be invited to speak. People with musical talent, from outside the club, add to the attraction. All these people will add to the knowledge of those present and make them better fathers and mothers, better citizens and neighbors.

(Concluded next week.)

This morning there ascended a great eulogistic ode of praise and thanksgiving, for the splendid new crosswalks so thoughtfully placed in the main streets of Almont, by the township board of supervisors. The thoughtfulness and paternal care exhibited by the board of supervisors to be rewarded by a JOURNAL leather medal of heroic size, emblazoned, "NECESSITAS PUBLICA MAJOR EST QUAM PRIVATA"

Men Who Make The World.

Men who make the world of today are making The Youth's Companion what it is to-day. The editorial page of information, comment, science, and events will keep any man well informed, while the Family Page helps on home improvements and ideas, and both boys and girls have special pages for themselves.

You do the family a good turn when The Youth's Companion "as it is to-day" is sent to the home. Fifty issues a year not twelve. More reading than is found in any other monthly magazine at any price.

You may not know The Companion as it is to-day. Let us send you the Announcement for 1914, with sample copies containing the opening chapters of A. S. Piers fine story of St. Timothy's School—His Father's Son.

New subscribers who send $2.00 for the fifty-two issues of 1914 will receive free of charge the remaining issues of 1913, and a copy of The Companion Practical Home Calendar in addition.

HOUSE ABANDONS 30-DAY RECESS IDEA

REPUBLICAN LEADER MANN REFUSES TO AGREE TO VACATION PLAN.

MONEY MEASURE CHANGES

Many important modifications expected to be carried out with Wilson's approval—Some of the Suggestions.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Plans of administration leaders to the effect that a thirty-day recess was abandoned because republican Leader Mann refused to yield in his determination to keep the house in session as long as the senate awaits action on the currency bill in committee.

With the hearings on the currency bill before the senate banking committee may not end before Saturday, amendments have the attention of the members.

Wilson Will Yield Point. President Wilson's intention that he will not object to changes in the personnel of the federal reserve board and a reduction in the number of regional reserve banks has made it practically certain that the desires of many senators to make these changes will be carried out with prospect of administration approval.

Many other important modifications will be taken up when committee work begins on the measure next week. Among the proposed changes is one that will go to the very last of the bill the provision authorizing the re-issuance of commercial paper and the issue of currency by the federal reserve banks.

Would Extend Length of Maturity. Senators Brinkley, Hitchcock, Reed and Nelson have suggested an amendment to extend the length of the maturity of a certain percentage of the paper the reserve banks might discount, to enable country banks holding six and nine months paper to enjoy the same privilege along this line, coupled with a more definite designation of "commercial paper" probably will be written into the bill.

Another Change Possible. The compulsory feature of the bill, under which all national banks would be required to join the system and subscribe 20 per cent of their capital in stock of the federal reserve bank of their district and turn over 5 per cent of their deposits to the reserve bank, may be changed.

Another suggested amendment would limit reserve banks in their clearing to checks drawn by banks leaving the present collection system for personal checks unchanged. The provision limiting the dividend to be paid by reserve banks to 3 per cent may be increased to 6 and the provision that after the accumulation of a 20 per cent surplus, all profits of the reserve banks, except the 50 per cent to the government and 40 per cent to the stockholders, banks may be changed to give all the surplus profit to the government.

Demands that senators either "re-sign" or go to the absent members of the house to be brought back to Washington by the use of "any force that may be necessary," and that the "misérable pretense" of trying to do without a quorum be ended, marked the opening of yesterday's session of the senate.

WILL GO BACK TO LEPERS

OSTRACIZED BY FRIENDS, NURSE INTENDS TO RETURN TO COLONY.

Letter Saved Her Life—Declares Doctors Say She is Free From Disease, But is Avoided Anyway.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Miss Marie Collier, who disappeared Friday leaving a note saying that she had been ostracized by society because she formerly was a nurse in a leper colony, returned.

She asserted that she had suffered from reports that she was suffering from leprosy, causing her friends to forsake her, had no discouragement that she had determined to shoot herself. She said that Miss A. Benjamin of Milwaukee, an acquaintance, had persuaded her not to end her life.

"I became so despondent Friday that I decided there was no use living any longer," said Miss Collier. "As I was tearing up some old letters I came across one from Miss Benjamin. It brightened me up and I now intend to go back to the lepers. I am an outcast of society."

A number of doctors have made examinations and reported that she is free from leprosy, but my friends refuse to believe it. If I go to any reception the crowd near me dwindles until I find myself standing alone. I have taken an inventory of my life and I can see no ray of hope. I sent letters to a number of leper colonies in the United States asking for a position as a nurse."

Miss Collier spent several months at a leper colony near Tracadie, New Brunswick. She was forced to leave because the climate was damaging her health.

Keokuk, Ia., Oct. 22.—Keokuk, the city, will honor Keokuk, the chief, by a statue in memory of the Indian warrior for whom this city was named. Frightened people will attend the dedication, among them Mrs. William C. Story of New York, president-re-elect of the D. A. R.; Lorado Taft, the sculptor; Dr. Frank Wyman of the department of Indian affairs; and Mrs. H. H. Howell of Des Moines, state regent of the D. A. R.

John Keokuk, a great great grandson of the chief, is coming from his Oklahoma home, bringing a message from the old warrior.

Preparation of the statue, which will be made by the artist, is well advanced. It is expected to be ready for shipment to Iowa City by the end of the month. The statue will be placed in the city square, and the dedication ceremony will be held on the 25th of the month.

SULZER ACCEPTS NEW NOMINATION

IMPEACHED GOVERNOR NAMED FOR STATE ASSEMBLY.

IS ON PROGRESSIVE TICKET

Sixth Assembly District of New York City to be Scene of Action—Opposed by State and County Leaders of Party.

New York, Oct. 22.—William Sulzer, impeached as governor of the state, has been nominated for the assembly, of the sixth assembly district. Mr. Sulzer in 1899 began his public career as a member of this branch of the state legislature. The nomination was made unanimous.

Accepts the Nomination. Mr. Sulzer accepted the nomination. It was announced, "at the meeting where he was nominated as candidate, Max Steindler, Progressive leader of the Sixth Assembly district, who placed the former governor's name in nomination, said Mr. Sulzer reached him by telephone from Albany and said he would accept.

The nomination of the impeached executive was brought about against the desires of the state and county leaders of the Progressive party. The sentiment among the Progressives throughout the state and in other states was generally against the move, according to State Chairman Theodore Douglas Robinson and County Chairman Francis W. Bird.

Cautioned Against It. Mr. Bird, in a letter to Mr. Steindler before the meeting began, cautioned him regarding the "inwisdom of nominating Mr. Sulzer."

Mr. Bird pointed out that although 3,200 voters in all parties, as he was informed, out of a total of 6,000 voters, had signed the petition favoring Mr. Sulzer's nomination, such a nomination would be more of a neighborhood party nomination. It would not be a strictly Progressive designation, but a nomination by the voters of all the parties in the district, using the vacancy "ticket for their own purposes."

Albany, N. Y.—A few minutes after the Progressive convention met in New York and nominated him for assemblyman, William Sulzer issued a statement, telling why he had "consented to come back to Albany."

"There is no reason why I was in communication by telephone with Progressive leaders in New York. There never was any doubt but that he could have the nomination if he wanted it, he declared. Nor does he doubt that the fact of his being in his back where he began his political career 20 years ago and his friends also are convinced that he will go from there to the speaker's chair and thence back to the governor's chair."

Sulzer has returned to New York to begin a campaign. He plans to speak day and night up to election time. After that he will accept some lecture engagements up to the first of January. His promise is to make the "tour" if he is made an assemblyman.

"And not only will I make it warm for my enemies in the assembly," he said, "but make them take notice in other places, too."

His statement follows, in part: "I shall be an unpartisan candidate, having no axe to grind and no motive or purpose other than to do what I can for the cause of good government—the struggle for which accomplished men brought about my removal from the governorship by an arrogant boss whose dictates to do wrong I defied."

WOMEN WILL PURIFY TOWN

Residents of Roseomon, Ireland, Take Determined Stand Against Lawbreakers.

Prompted by a spirit of emulation, a number of women in the county of Roseomon have started a crusade against the activities of the liquor traffic in that territory, says a Dublin letter.

They have not yet adopted the amazonian methods of the women of Kansas, but there is no doubt they have gone a long way toward modeling their campaign on the best American lines.

They have, therefore constituted themselves a sort of vigilance society and for the last two or three market days they have paraded the town looking for persons under the influence of drink, whom they promptly hand over on discovery to the nearest policeman.

They also mix among the customers in the saloons, disguised in various ways, and report the smallest breach of the licensing laws to the local judges.

What is more surprising is that many of the wives and daughters of the harassed saloonkeepers have joined these new temperance campaigners. They feared the social ostracism that would follow a refusal to act with the other women more than the remonstrances of their husbands and fathers.

HEAD ITCHED AND BURNED

BURNS, Wyo.—"The trouble began on my baby when she was about four months old. A red pimple was seen at first and it grew larger and larger all the time on the back of her head. It looked scaly and it itched and itched and she began to scratch it and scratched until it would bleed. Sometimes she could not sleep and felt pretty cross."

"The trouble lasted till she was a year old and I used an advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, so I sent for some. First I washed the sore part with the Cuticura Soap and then applied the Cuticura Ointment and left it on for a while, then I washed it again with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and the sore in a week without a scar." Eat the Egg Shells.

A teaspoonful of chloride of calcium, three times a day, dissolved in water, is healthful and nourishing, according to the German professors, Emmerich and Low. Lime, if taken in slight quantities as food, they contend, is a preventive and a cure of many physical ills which now afflict humanity, increasing the vitality of the organism, protecting it from harmful microbes and curing inflammatory affections.

Instead of throwing away the shells when one eats eggs, it would be better to eat the shells and discard the yolk and white, according to the personal view of these professors.

Particular.

"How do you want your eggs?" asked the waiter.

"Soft boiled," replied the man, who dislikes the cold storage system. "And see that I get 'em that way. Those you served me yesterday morning were merely thawed."

ATTUMA AGAIN FIRE SWEEP

Third Destructive Conflagration to Sweep Downtown Section in Three Years—Winds Fan Fire.

OTTUMWA, Ia., Oct. 21.—The third disastrous fire in three years has just swept the business district here, causing a loss of $15,000. A half city block, including two hardware stores, two furniture stores, the Ottumwa gas company's building, and a flour and feed store, was destroyed by the flames.

The fire started in the Ottumwa hardware store building and spread to the stock of powder and ammunition, which scattered the blaze in every direction. Strong winds made the fire spectacular and the work of the firemen difficult. Mayor Seavers of Ottumwa sent apparatus to this city in a special train to aid the local department.

NO INTEREST IN ELECTIONS

Mexican Voters Apparently Giving But Little Thought to the Outcome.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 21.—With the elections a week off and the assurance of three candidates in the field for the presidency, there appears to be no noticeable interest on the part of the general public as to who (whichever) voters are backing entirely in particular. There is no speech-making, no parades, no banners; only a few posters announcing several candidates.

Parades were placed under the ban as the highlighting of the campaign by common consent of the candidates, who feared disastrous consequences might follow.

The newspapers have paid little attention to the approaching elections, printing only occasional deprecatory articles directed chiefly against the validity of the candidacy of Federico Lambo, nominated by the Catholic party.

A PLAIN FACT

We have written this ad for you to think and think hard of what we are saying. First of all it seems that until the Jew came to New Salem some merchants didn't know what sale making meant and since the Jew has been here he is making those merchants sit up and take notice. Some of the merchants, got the habit of making a sale at least once a year for it must look good to them. We ask you why but of course you wouldn't know. Well, to tell you, the Jew is the only one who gives Good Merchandise cheap, consequently he is the one to get the business and he doesn't believe in making 100 to 150 per cent profit on everything he sells like one merchant who has the habit of making sales every year. It must be that he is losing trade more every year, and he should. If he believed in "live and live," the public would never have to send away for their needs. It must be remembered that the public will not stand to pay three prices for what merchandise is worth; they would be fools that would. If business isn't just to their satisfaction for nine months, they will import a man to make a sale for them paying him 10 per cent of the people's hard earned money, and you help pay it out of every dollar's worth you buy. We ask you again, "Would a good reliable merchant have to import a man to teach him how to tempt the public for a month, to put a price-list headed with shoe-strings, and handkerchiefs, and a box of 'grab' which is as old as the hills?" We give shoe-strings away all the year 'round; we don't have to import a sale-manager for that. When we conduct a sale we do it ourselves and the people benefit by it. We let you make the 10 per cent and 15 per cent of our profit. Also, we give to each customer that buys $75.00 worth of fall supplies, a 100 lb. sack of the best patent flour. When you come to us it will be a big saving on everything that you buy and we can give you those things much quicker than the merchant who gives 10 per cent.

Where can you benefit more in buying your fall supply than in our
