N. D. ACHIEVEMENT BANQUET.

Four Hundred Gather to Celebrate Tremendous Success of State During Past Few Years.

Grand Parks.—Four hundred attended the first Saturday evening in honor of the agricultural achievements of North Dakota in the last two years. Over 100 Twin City business men were guests, coming in a special train for the celebration.

The North Dakota people were jubilant over their growth in prosperity. Figures were presented at the banquet to show that in the ten years between 1909 and 1910 the state's farm wealth grew from more than $25,000,000 to about $100,000,000; that the value of its farm products in the same period grew from $41,000,000 to $220,000,000; that the value of its livestock jumped 125 per cent; that between 1908 and 1912 the state's bank deposits increased from a little more than $5,000,000 to more than 10,000,000; a gain of more than 100 per cent.

Attention was called to the fact that the years since 1910 were getting the state on the way in a record-breaking way. The state's bank deposits in 1909 and 1910. So they returned.

Twin City Men Cheer.—The Twin City people, gathered with them. They cheered the state, but each of them were a significant factor in order to give North Dakota an air of credit.

The budget called for the spirit of the meeting and the North Dakota North Dakota in going in for livestock more strongly every day into hogs, dairy cows, beef cows, sheep. Hence the Twin City people were encouraged.

Mr. Johnson had a fine steer, one he had bought to fatten for sale. When the North Dakota corn and clover competition was held in February, F. L. Townsend, president of the Grand Forks Commercial club, suggested that this steer be brought to the convention as an exhibit to show the farmers what a real top steer was.

The suggestion was adopted. The steer was killed during the corn and clover show, and then came the suggestion from Mr. Kinman that a feast in celebration of the work of the last two years be held.

The toast list included speeches by Governor L. B. Hanna, James J. Hill, E. T. Bailey, former governor of North Dakota, Dean H. Kusman, University of Wisconsin Agricultural College, and many others.

WILL VOTE THOUGH ABROAD. Governor Hanna and Many Others Who Cannot Attend Primaries Provided For.

Fargo.—Despite the fact that Governor Hanna and hundreds of others will be either on board the Hagen or on the land of the state during the primaries, he held the latter part of June their votes will be counted.

This will be under the provision of the legislature of the present of the absent voters' law enacted by the traveling and railroad men. It permits a voter to mark his ballot fifteen days in advance of the election in the county auditor, who will send it to the precinct designated where it will be counted just the same as those present.

The primary election will be held the latter part of June. Governor Hanna, his staff and hundreds of North Dakotans of this state will be on the way to Norway, and the state of Lincoln to Norway on July 4.

Wayman Lent to Storm. Rolla.—Lent in a storm while making her way from a barn to her home. Mrs. Ernest Baker, aged 60, wandered off on the prairie, and was found on the way to Rolla. She was taken to a telephone pole and seriously injured.

MILITIA TO GET TWO TRIPS

National Guard Will Join in National Manuevers This Year—To France Next.

Devils Lake.—With the North Dakota regiment of national guard, joining in manuevers of a national character this summer and arrangements already completed for the embarkment of the Pickart soldiers on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco in 1915, the state drill grounds, known as the Rock Island military reservation on the shores of Devils Lake, will be "dark" the next two years. This announcement was made by regimental officers in Devils Lake today.

A few weeks ago a communication had received from the war department asking if it would be satisfactory to the North Dakota men to embark at Sparta, Wis. This was followed by a communication in the effect that the department contemplated three big general manuevers in the east, south and west, and requesting that all previous plans be discontinued until further details of the great manuever idea had been worked out. If the North Dakota regimental officers are allowed to embark, which they will join, the south will be the unanimous choice. Many of the officers of the First regiment served in the war, and it is with the hope of getting down on the border that the journey south is favored.

The embarkment at the Panama-Pacific exposition in the east is made possible by the individual efforts of the members of the various companies. Each man will give $25 to addition to the amount that the war department provides to increase the fund to sufficient proportion to make the journey. The men will be given a certain amount of work on the exposition grounds, after which they will be at liberty to enjoy the sights. The interest among the militiamen, as a result of two war years, is such that the state has been greatly increased.

MORE CORN WILL BE GROWN.

Average in Wheat May Not Be Materially Increased in North Dakota Says Commissioner's Report.

Bismarck.—In a report issued by W. C. Christoph, commissioner of agriculture and labor a slight increase is shown in the number of farms and acre under cultivation. In 1911 there were 2,457 farms and 1,000,000 acres, a total of 1,000,000 acres under cultivation. This was a little less than 200 acres in each farm. The acres for 1912 are 2,457 farms and 1,000,000 acres, which increased the average size of the farms to a little less than 200 acres.

The total acreage of farm land cultivated and uncultivated, shows an increase for the year ended on Jan. 1, 1912, from 2,777,641 to 2,784,211, or close to one million acres.

It will be but little increase in the number of acres sown in wheat the coming season, but it is impossible now to calculate the exact amount. Nearly 2,000,000 bushels more of potatoes were raised in 1912 than in 1911.

MISSOURI FOR N. D. Accident. Bismarck.—Mrs. Phoebe Roban was awarded a verdict of $5,000 for the loss of her husband who was killed two weeks ago when he was working for the Cargill (Gleason) company at Minard, N. D. He sued for $15,000 a year ago and the jury this morning brought in a verdict of $5,000. District Judge W. E. Hale granted the motion for a new trial made in behalf of the widow, on the grounds of legal error of the verdict.

The supreme court affirmed the order of the district court. The second trial, just completed before District Judge John H. Brown, resulted in a verdict of $5,000.

Back to Three "A's." Fargo.—A routine in common sense, especially in the case of a woman, is being established by Dean Huber, superintendent of the state police. He is also feeling the complaint about the lack of ability of college and university students that the dean has determined this year cannot be brought against his students. In addition to drilling the students in spelling, he is also feeling their penmanship and reviewing their arithmetic. Headache is another thing he insists upon. Some of the tests in orthography indicated how necessary the common sense course is to students.

County Fair Dates Selected. Grandville.—At a general meeting of the Grandville Fair association, July 2 and 3 were fixed as the dates for the 1914 fair, and the following officers elected: President, F. O. Brown; Vice President, A. J. Stenberg; Secretary, O. C. Stenberg; Treasurer, A. W. Gassner.

Arranging Fish Exhibit. Grandville.—Captain R. W. State, state fish commissioner, is arranging a permanent exhibit for the museum at the state butchery at Grandville.

Insurance Commissioner Fight On. Grandville.—Some of the insurance companies of the state are after the grasp of the insurance commissioner's report. They have filed a motion with the court to date for a third trial, but since his announcement it is impossible for his opponent to start an aggressive campaign. The insurance companies are not allowed to sue the commissioner, but will not only sue the commissioner, but will sue the state for the damage done to the state by the insurance companies.

DRIVE GOURMET TO SARCASTIC

Evidently French Restaurant Wine Was Not Exactly the Quality He Had Ordered.

William K. Corey praised at a Pittsburgh club a wine of California. "Our California wine," said the steel magnate, "are much better than wine of a similar price in France for French wine are so adulterated today that even a high-priced one often tastes like burnt sugar and water."

"But the fine wines, the 'grand cru' wines are wonderful," a young bachelor interrupted.

Mr. Corey shook his head. "A friend of mine, a gourmet with whom I lunched not long ago at a fashionable boulevard restaurant in Paris, ordered a bottle of very old cognac, 'brandy' brand. Pouring out a little of the wine and rolling it on his tongue in true gourmet fashion he made a very true statement: 'What he demanded, 'must wine is this you brought me.'"

"It is what monster ordered," was the reply. "Margaret 1868, brand 'cur' brand," asserted my friend. "How lucky it is to be so old and to conceal its age so well."

When a man needs the admission to "hear it and grin" the grin is too forced to fool anyone.

LIFE'S ROAD

Smoother by Change of Food.

Worry is a big load to carry and an unnecessary one. When accompanied by indigestion it certainly is cause for reflection.

But the whole trouble may be easily thrown off and life's road be made easy and comfortable by proper eating and the utilization of good cheer. Read what a Texan woman says:

"Two years ago I made the acquaintance of Grape-Nuts and have used the food once a day and sometimes twice, ever since."

"At the time I began to use it life was a burden. I was for years afflicted with bilious headache, caused by indigestion, and nothing seemed to relieve me."

"CASCARETS" FOR A BILIOUS LIVER

For sick headache, bad breath, Sour Stomach and constipation.

Get a 10-cent box now. No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches; how miserable and uncomfortable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish bowels—always get the desired results with Cascarets.

Don't let your stomach, liver and bowels make you miserable. Take Cascarets tonight; put an end to the headache, biliousness, dizziness, nervousness, sick, sour, gassy stomach, backache and all other distressing ailments. Cleanse your entire system with Cascarets. It is a safe, pleasant and effective medicine.

No more days of gloom and distress if you will take a Cascaret now and then. Cleanse your bowels, get rid of the "biliousness," the children—clear their little faces—need a cleansing too.

TITANIC PERIODICAL LIGHT HOUSE

The first lighthouse erected in the world has been erected at Alexandria in Egypt by the British in 1819. It was built on the ruins of the temple of Isis, which was destroyed by the earthquake of 1303. The lighthouse was built on a small island in the harbor of Alexandria, and was the first lighthouse in the world to be built on a small island. It was built on a small island in the harbor of Alexandria, and was the first lighthouse in the world to be built on a small island.

Private Lighthouses Established. At this time it was customary for private people to erect lighthouses at their own expense in return for which they were allowed to levy a toll on all passing vessels. The first of these was erected by the king, but Trinity House, a guild of fishermen who were interested in the fisheries of the coast, had developed into a rich and powerful organization, and the general management of navigation. They regarded the erection of these private lighthouses as a usurpation of their rights, for they were responsible for the buoyage of the channels, and alleged that they had the sole right of erecting lighthouses. Trinity House therefore opposed all schemes for the building of lighthouses by private parties, and in spite of this hostility lighthouses were erected at many points on the coast. The light consisted of an open hearth at the summit of the tower, with the lantern glass and pulley on the right hand side were used for lighting up the lantern.

COLORS NOT FAVORED

ENGLISH EVENING GOWNS FASHIONED IN ALL-WHITE.

Even the trimming of fur, so popular just now, is in this color. Silver Gause Adds to the festiveness.

The all-white dress is an especially attractive for English evening gowns that one can hardly be surprised they are soon more than colors. writes Lillian E. Young in the Washington Star. White chiffon and mulline silk are used together in the latest model of the which, with only the bands of dark fur by way of contrast, and if desired this, too, may be kept white by substituting ermine, rabbit or osany skin, or even white marten.

All-white Evening Gown in Chiffon and Satin.

of self material. A side girth of the silk ties in a beautiful bow at front that is fastened with fur.

The tulle is in two layers—the lower one attached to a plain cotton foundation that is visible by the upper one. Both are adorned with tiny folds instead of gathers, and bordered with a narrow band of tulle. A little above the round neck is a piece of a box told caught up under the armpits, where the tulle forms a heading for the skirt.

The skirt is draped from the waist at center front and after the desired panels fall down the side.

LITTLE THINGS THAT HELP

Dainty Dandier Accessories Need Not Be Costly, and Will Take Only a Short Time to Make.

Do you know how quickly one of the big bagging sachets for the dress closet can be made? All there is to it is a crumpled bag, 12 by 8 inches, easily opened for the removing of the perfume, and hung from a pretentious coat hanger. This need not cost more than a quarter, and can be made in an hour.

Have you seen the sachets made from a yard of French gauze ribbon, one bag for the sachet, one from the double end and the rest used for a big bow and hangers? Use heavy and delicate ribbon—holding dried sweet lavender. The drug stores sell both.

Have you examined the little book rack for the best of one's dressing table chair? Cover with cretonne, two strips of pasteboard about 9 by 1 inches. On one side make a row of hooks, such as are used on fur garments. Overhang the two bits of covered pasteboard together, attach a strip of folded cretonne for a hanger and there you are!

MEDIC COLLAR WINS FAVOR

Excellent Reasons for Popularity of This Attractive Evening Adornment.

Medic collars flourish at evening functions, where they appear on fully half of the lately-launched model-gowns. The reason for their vogue is constant. They conceal the early back which disfigures many an otherwise pretty woman, or the swarthy shoulders of the immature girl. Jeweled and of various, beaded make, a linen lace are made into these girdling collars, which are of even height at the back and sides and only flare broadly at their ends, where the wide edge, it best into a decided curve.

Auquoque laces—the wonderful cream-colored moths of French, Spanish or Italian origin—make up into the most stunning of Medic collars. They frequently are the only touches of lace about evening gowns of the equally striking construction worn at afternoon receptions.

Plain and white linen, ajour bordered, is the chic thing in Medic collars for afternoon houses given in velvet or satin. At first, this combination impresses the beholder as very odd, but the very simplicity of the noble and delicate design, of handsome fabric, proves attractive. Moreover, it has the allure of the unexpected.

DIVIDES WORLD OF FASHION

Question of Voluminous Wrap or Ki-rono is Agitating the Parisian Smart Set.

A secret war is being waged in Paris in the world of wraps. On one side we have the old-world "poppinans" coat which is luxuriously wide at the hem and which recalls the garments of the mid-Victorian period; on the other side we find the slender wrap of almost exclusively modern design. And for the moment there is very much to be said of a favorable description.

If it is a curious fact that though almost all climates are alike in outdoor, such one becomes individual when draped on the figure. I know of no other garment which so lends itself to individual arrangement. Worn by women of ordinary mind and little imagination, a simple satin or tulle wrap will seem the most ordinary of all things. But for the same wrap worn by a woman of different temperament and immediately it becomes filled with malicious charm. —New York Herald.

SUPERIOR-MANAGEMENT OF SOWS AND PIGS

The Large Hog Was Raised by a Member of the Boy's Pig Club; the Small One Was Reared by the Boy's Father.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

All hog lots should be built where the sun will shine upon some portion of them at all hours of the day, and State Farmers' Bulletin 546, of the Department of Agriculture Sunshine is one of the greatest factors for destroying germs and keeping down disease. A supply of clean, fresh water at all times is essential. The troughs should be kept clean and not so much furnished with water that it will be left in the trough to become sour and filthy. The troughs should be frequently washed out and placed where the sun will shine upon them. This is especially true of troughs used for feeding small pigs. Cleanliness of the feed is essential in this case to prevent scours, which is the cause of death among so many pigs. Avoid sudden changes of feed for the pig just before fattening or while suckling her pigs. Do not give a new feed until the pig has become used to it. Many young pigs are lost each year from scours and diarrhea. It is essential that the sow have a warm, dry bed when she farrows. Young pigs are lost each year from scours and diarrhea. ## TIMELY HINTS FOR DAIRYMAN

Practical Feeder Will Observe Matter Carefully—Cleanliness Is Matter of High Value.

Every successful dairyman knows that the cow should not be milked with lightning speed; but steadily and evenly.

The good feeder will watch the cow during the milking, brushing the cows and properly mixing their feed; it is possible to milk in comfort. If a few extra dairy cows fall into a clean crop, it is the duty of the state and municipal governments to put them out of business.

WHO'S DEAD AND WHY

MRS. JOSEPH E. RANSDALL

Like President Wilson, Mrs. Joseph E. Ransdall of Louisiana has tried out the number 13 and found it lucky.

"To show you I always know what's good number 13," says the wife of Senator Ransdall, "I will tell you that I came into the world as the thirteenth child of my parents. In that day and time, it was held as a lucky number of children for parents to have. So, at any rate, I had the advantage of not regarding it with superstitious awe by my childhood."

Mrs. Ransdall is the recently elected treasurer general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She spends two mornings each week in her office at the Continental Memorial hall at Washington, D.C. The Tennessee, Maryland and California rooms are given over to the transaction of the various affairs of business that pass through her hands, and she has a staff of one efficient clerk. Every penny of the thousands of dollars disbursed is handled by Mrs. Ransdall and is accounted for.

annually by the great patriotic society office is one that calls for business and executive ability. Mrs. Ransdall has served as vice-president at large of the Women's National Union and has been deeply interested in the subject of the development of American waterways.

TALENTED YOUNG MATRON

New York, Boston, Chicago and the most densely populated cities are familiar with the name of woman best represented by Miss Mabel Urdeman, head of the Red Cross, and now by Mrs. Joseph McWilliam McCormick, who has taken over the national protection of the suffrage cause. Miss Boardman is a dominant figure socially and under the Taft administration presided over the general reorganization of a saloon of the eighteenth century the capital has enjoyed Mrs. McCormick has resided at various intervals in Washington since she wore about gowns and still attended school. She is well known as her father's pride and occasional counsel in the early days of President McKinley's regime. She passed from the school girl role to that of a debutante popular with all classes of people. Social honors soon piled on the talented young matron and ten years ago she became active interested in various philanthropic schemes in Washington and Chicago. Two years ago she began the erection of a series of lodging houses for self-respecting working girls.

To supervise this task, Mrs. McCormick took a course in practical architecture and visited in person the great central cities, where similar experiments had been conducted. She took up domestic science and with the aid of a successful caterer she placed wholesome menus to be provided at a minimum price.

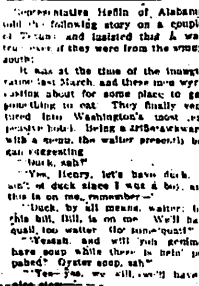

AMERICAN, YET TYPICALLY SPANISH

An American woman who looks enough like a Spaniard to be mistaken for a native Castilian is the Senora Alicia Ward Blanco y Gayzane, wife of the Spanish ambassador to this country. It is a strange coincidence—a quirk of fate as it were—that she should resemble so markedly in coloring and feature the countrywomen of her foreign-born husband. Every one who says to conversation for some little while the United States as her birthplace and fatherland.

This country has much to be proud of when it views the season, despite the fact that her exotic type reflects credit upon another clime. She first impressed one as being a mere girl, yet upon her thoughtful shoulders rest the responsibilities of an embassy. She is one of the most popular and effective chaperones of the entire diplomatic corps. This is due, perhaps, to another of her personal qualities, that reveals itself after she had been engaged in conversation for some little time. She has a great amount of what might be called forceful spontaneity. In other words, she is delightfully enthusiastic about the joys and beauties of the land she does not hesitate to express her pleasure; but balancing this youthful enthusiasm of hers is a well-developed interest in serious matters.

SAW TO IT HIMSELF

Representative Heflin of Alabama told the following story to a couple of friends and insisted that it was true, as they were from the wrong source.

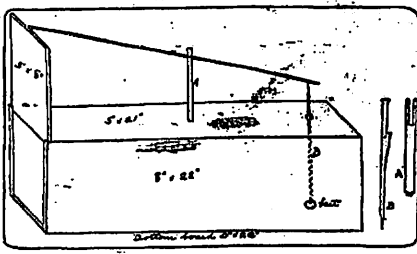

"It was at the time of the investigation of the case, and three men were sitting about for some time to get something to eat. They finally requested the Washington's usual restaurant. Being a first-class restaurant with a menu, the waiter promptly began directing."

"The waiter, he's here back, I got a duck steak I want a bit, and this is on me, remember?" "Duck, but all means, waiter, for this hot, still, to eat on me? We have quite too water for some quality!" "Yes, and will you permit me to serve you with a bit of oyster soup, sir?" "Yes, yes, we will, we will have it."

"When they had finished, they started to look out a waiter, a white boy and a negro, and a crisp one-dollar bill, handed it to the almost black waiter with the remark that he could have what was left out of it. The bill was white."

"Henry was told that the bill was '35.50. Being man of few words, the waiter said nothing until they had reached Pennsylvania avenue. And then, the waiter came forward and handed the bill to the waiter, saying, 'This bill will be paid for by the waiter.'"

HOME-MADE TRAP FOR CATCHING ANIMALS

Rabbit Trap

Robert H. Wotr, age fourteen, of Cowley county, Kansas, has sent us the diagram of a rabbit trap which he has made, and one which other boys could easily make. Besides getting rabbits, Robert has been able to set a few "poisons" when apples were used as bait. He says to make a few small holes in the back, so that the rabbit can see clear through, and not be afraid of entering the trap.

FURNITURE FOR THE DOLLIE

Youngster May Surprise Mother by Keeping Quiet for Half Hour in Making Little Toys.

Any boy or girl who wants to surprise mother by being very quiet for half an hour and by amusing himself—or herself—all that time, might make pin furniture, because it is really fun.

Use a few black-headed pins and a spool of colored twine. Then you can make some scraps of wafel or satin or other cloth, also a tiny postcard box or a cork stopper.

Perhaps with a diagram in front of you you won't need to be told how to go to work. But in case you should be puzzled here are the directions:

A Pretty Chair.

Have a good box or a thin, round piece of cork for the seat. Cork is best, because the pins go in it so easily. You can easily enough put a slice from round cork stopper, (over with the velvet or cloth). Then stick the pins for the back and twist the thread around them; lastly stick four pins for the legs.

MAKE HOMES FOR THE BIRDS

During Winter Boys Can Prepare to Attract Little Feathered Friends by Making Nests.

A boy once originated the idea of varying the usual bird's nesting-places into a systematic study of the breeding of our common birds. In one spring he found within the limits of a single village 107 robin's nests. One hundred were in suitable situations on private places, 41 were in woods, swamps and orchards, eight were placed under bridges (to be built inside the iron girders of the railroad bridge), four were in quarts, 16 were in barns, 16 in attics, 16 in ices, etc., and one on the ground at the foot of a bush.

In addition to searching out the birds in their natural haunts, there is a great fascination in trying to attract them to our homes, says Roy Knoute of America. During the winter evenings boy scouts can busy themselves making nesting boxes. Even an old cigar box or tomato can with a hole in it the size of a quarter will do very well. Other boxes which are suitable for the birds, chickadees, tree swallows and starlings will, if set up in March, often have tenants the first week. In many cases it is feasible to hang bird boxes or sides on the nesting house, so that they may occasionally be opened and the progress of the birds observed. It is needless to add, however, that great caution must be exercised to prevent destruction of the nest or other citizens of the bird's home life. Under favorable circumstances even some of the shyest inhabitants of the woods, such as woodpeckers, owls and ducks, can be induced to patronize artificial cavities if they are made right and erected right.

Case of Necessity. It was Sunday, and two small boys were industriously digging in a vacant lot. When a man who had been stopped by three men's mothers, "that you know that it is a sin to dig on Sunday unless it be a case of necessity," asked the good man. "Yes, sir," timidly replied one of the boys. "Then why don't you stop it?" "Cause this is a case of necessity," replied the little philosopher. "A fellow can't dig without dirt," said Francisco Agonzani.

When a Man is Unable to Buy Goods...

When a man is unable to buy goods for his wife it will help some to praise the beautiful she bathes.

He Had Experience. Once upon a time a small boy about three years old was taken to the church to be baptized. As soon as he caught sight of the bowl of water in the minister's hand he remembered his antipathy for the bathtub and straightened himself up for the attack.

When the minister approached him, reverently dipping his hand in the water, the little fellow said: "If you put soap in my eyes I'll buy your soap."—National Monthly.

BABY HAD PAINFUL COLEMA

R. J. D. No. 3, La Grange, Colo.—"About two years ago my baby, who was about four months old at that time, was afflicted with colic which at first appeared in the back of the neck and kept constantly enlarging. The colic broke out in a rash at first and it was small and rough and very red. It thickened and burned so much that he could not sleep well, continually turning and twisting his head as the colic was on the back of his neck where he could not get to it to scratch well. But in rubbing so much it became red and almost raw. It seemed very painful as the child fringed constantly. After some time a similar trouble appeared on the cheeks."

"At last a friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a sample and this did so much good I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and the Cuticura Ointment. I used them according to directions and it was a month until the colic was apparently well and it soon entirely disappeared and has never returned." (Signed) Mrs. Carrie M. Brews, Mar. 11, 1913.

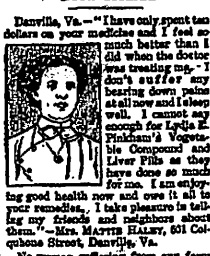

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 35-p. Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Ad.
